NEW YORK, April 19.—Disappointment over the drop of but $2,000,000 in brokers' loans, and lessens over the outcome of reparations conference, precipitated considerable weekend wotk toward the close of today's stock market and turned the trends sharply irregular, although the majority of issues closed firm.Renewed selling of the coppers was an unsettling development in late trading, Anaconda and Montana Cananea losing 2 and 3 cents. Crex Carpet, which broke yesterday, lost nearly 5 points more yesterday. Allied Chemical slipped 4 points, Goodyear fell 3 cents, and Woolworth, having mounted 6 points to a record price, dropped 3 points from the top. Rather moving up 4 mounts, at most of its gain.Demand for Some Issues.
Demand continued unabated for number of important issues, however, particularly American Telephone, which mounted three points to a record price at 225 1/2, and Pan-American B., which achieved a record price at 64 1/2 in like gain. Bethlehem Steel, selling ex-dividend, reached a new high at 115 in buying in anticipation of a stock offering later in the year to retire its funded debt.
Reactionary tendencies predominated in the commodity markets, the net declines were small,
short futures dropped about two cents a bushel in the early trading and then recovered most of the loss. Cotton moved higher at the opening and then turned heavy in reaction of uncertainty regarding further developments over the week-end.Most of the leading foreign exchanges drifted lower in the early trading as a result of the expected break-up of the reparations conference, but later cables indicated that an agreement was still possible brought supporting orders to the market, and afternoon quotations were firm. German marks, which had dropped below 23.69 cents, rallied about 23.70, and morning cables were in good demand around $4.65-5.16.Call money rose at 7 1/2 per cent as against 8 yesterday and appeared to be in plentiful supply at that figure. A further easing was noted in the time money market, some of the longer dates being available as low as 8 1/4 per cent against 8 1/2 earlier in the week and 9 per cent a week ago.High current earnings and returns of new stock split-ups and mergers stimulated the demand for merchandising shares. Woolworth, which recently announced a for 1 split-up of the stock, ran up to a new high record. Phillips and Julius Kayser also moved to new high ground.A sudden demand for the New York Tractation shares, which was not explainable by anything in the news, featured the early afternoon dealings. Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, which had sunk in the session to a new low for the year at 64, rallied to 66 yesterday, up 6 1/4 points net gain.Third Avenue Interurban Rail-losing 1/2 to 3/4 point net higher.Advance Rumely Advances.

Expectations that the advance Rumely issues would benefit from the farm relief program of Con-

SHOT AND KILLED IN RUNNING AWAY FROM POLICEMAN

Leo G. Hermans, 2217A
Sidney Street, Wounded in Flight When Hailed for Questioning.

OFFICER ASSERTS HE FIRED ACCIDENTALLY

Declares Weapon Was Discharged When He Stumbled—Dying Victim
Says 'I've Been a Fool'

Fleeing through an alley from police who sought to question him, Leo G. Hermans, 29 years old, 2217A Sidney Street, was shot and killed last night.

Special Officer Neal Thurman, who fired the shot, reported his revolver was accidentally discharged when he stumbled over an obstruction in the alley.

Lieut. William Meyer and Special Officers Thurman and John Brett, all in civilian attire, were touring the Laclede Avenue District in a department automobile at 8:30 o'clock when they observed Hermans loitering in a Negro neighborhood, at Twenty-second and Walnut streets, and decided to question him about his movements, as is the police custom.

"I told Officer Brett to stop the car," Lieut. Meyer reported, "and I called to the man, who was standing at the police officers' office. The man turned out, displayed his badge and said 'Police officers.'

"The man turned and ran west in Walnut to Jametton street without saying a word."

Called Halt Several Times.

"I chased the man west in Walnut and north in Jametton to an alley running between Walnut and Market streets," Officer Thurman related.

"I called 'halt' several times as the man ran west in the alley. I had my revolver in my hand when I stumbled and fell in the rear of the Central Paper Box Co. at 2227 Walnut. I stumbled over a manhole cover which stands two feet above the rest of the unpaved alley."

"In stumbling my finger closed on the trigger and discharged the revolver. I was about 55 feet behind the man then. When I regained my balance, the man had stopped and turned about with one hand under his coat. I didn't know that he was unarmed and I thought he might be reaching for a weapon."

"I approached him cautiously, walking beside the sheds in the alley, and when I got close, he said: 'I'm shot. I've been a fool for running!'"

Thurman assisted the wounded man to the police auto, in which Meyer and Brett had driven to the west end of the fugitive.

"Why did you run?" the Lieutenant inquired, on taking the wounded man to City Hospital, where he gave his name and address.

"I don't know," Hermans replied. "I was just a plain damn fool. My car was parked down there."

Hermanns had been shot in the back, the bullet passing through the abdominal cavity. He died at 9:26 o'clock.

Had $42 and Car Keys.

Hermanns had $42 and the keys to his Ford coupe, which was parked on Eugenia street west of Twenty-second street. What he was doing in that neighborhood has not been learned.

Hermanns was employed as a repair man by the St. Louis Dental Supply Co. Yesterday was pay day. He had dinner with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Rumpf, with whom he boarded at the Sidney street address, and left in his car about 7:30 o'clock, without announcing his destination.

Mrs. Rumpf was ill today from shock over her brother's death. Rumpf told a Post-Dispatch reporter he had no idea why Hermans ran from police except that Hermans might have feared a holdup and assumed the police were highwaymen.

However, police reported finding several times he had heard the words "halt" and "police" should during the chase. One Negro, Edward Livingston, 2222 Walnut, said he was walking through the alley, heard Thurman call on Hermans to halt, and saw the policeman stumble, discharging his revolver.

Officer Thurman is 25 years old, and resides at 2609 Clara avenue. He joined the department Jan. 3, 1927, and is an expert shot.

Hermanns had been arrested twice for traffic law violations.

He headed a subcommittee which undertook such important work as the elimination of the transfer clause from the reparations arrangements, commercialization of the German reparations debt and constitution of an international bank to handle reparations payments.

He was thought to have held the end some hope the reparation conference might emerge with some sort of a settlement, this belief being based on comments to his brother when he arrived at the apartment he maintained at Baile Saint Honore. He complained of being tired and then said:

"I don't suppose that this thing has gone beyond repair. It may be patched up yet."

HELEN MORGAN IS ACQUITTED IN NIGHT CLUB CASE

Mrs. Willebrandt's Attorneys Fail, as With Texas Guinan, to Convict Her Under Dry Law.

ACTRESS WEEPS AS SHE THANKS JURORS

Failed to Take Witness Stand to Defend Her $1000-a-Week Connection With New York Cafe

Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 19.—A jury in Federal Court took just a little less than three hours last night to acquit Helen Morgan of maintaining a "common nuisance" in the departed night club, Helen Morgan's Summer Home, and for the second time, the efforts of prohibition authorities at Washington to send Broadway night club houses to jail as violators of the prohibition law came to naught.

A week earlier, to the day, Texas Guinan was acquitted in the same courtroom and before the same Judge—Edwin C. Thomas of Connecticut—of a similar charge in connection with the also departed Salon Royale.

The jury returned its verdict at 8:30 to a half-empty courtroom and a frightened, tearful defendant. At 8:45 the jurors had signified they were ready with their verdict, but Judge Thomas had gone up town to a dinner and there was a wait until he arrived.

When the verdict was announced Miss Morgan grasped her lawyer's hand fervently and leaned her head for a moment on his shoulder. He led her forward and introduced her to each juror. In the midst of thanking the jurors she suddenly burst into well-mannered tears. The legal shoulder was again at her service.

The delay in reaching a verdict was explained by one of the jurors, Salter, who said many night club owners had made Miss Morgan offers through him and she had refused them, including one of $600 a week from Nicholas Blair, one of the owners of the Club Anatole. But when Blair raised his offer to $750, Bentham advised her to take it, he testified, she accepted his acceptance from abroad.

The witness said it was he who suggested the name of the club be changed to Cher Helen Morgan. Later, he continued, with his advice Miss Morgan signed a new contract for a salary of $1000 a week and then still another one for $1250 a week, this last in the ill-fated Helen Morgan's Summer Home, which only ran from last June 1 to June 29. He asserted he was still her manager, collecting a 10 per cent commission on her earnings, and she had said she "would not play in any night club again at any time."

Tries to Show Partnership.

Pitching into his witness, Salter tried to make him admit Miss Morgan had drawn a new contract on her own account with Blair and had thus become a partner in the night club.

"Isn't it a fact that you had trouble collecting your commissions and you wrote Miss Morgan demanding payment, and she wrote back and didn't owe you anything because she had drawn this contract herself?" demanded Salter.

"Did you purchase any liquor?" demanded Salter.

"No, I carried my own," said the witness.

"Would you have purchased any if you had felt like it?"

Bentham explained: "It was summer and I don't drink much in summer except when I have a pain," and added something about his "yacht." Spectators smiled, the jurors smiled, but Salter exclaimed that this was no "comic matter," and Judge Thomas threatened to clear the courtroom if anyone laughed again.

The case went to the jury after a defense which lasted something less than an hour and a half. Miss Morgan's attorney, who had announced the day before that she would take the witness stand—"We have nothing to fear"—did not put her on. Spectators naturally clapped to the conclusion it was because of the vehemence with which Leslie Salter, special deputy Attorney General, had gone after the sole defense witness, Myron S. Bentham, theatrical agent.

But Miss Morgan said afterward she had not wanted to testify because she knew she would go to pieces under the strain. She was pale and on the verge of tears even then and that was before Salter had made his fervid summation to the jury, talking about "manhood," "patriotism," "womanhood" and "virtue," and accusing her of "selling her birthright for a mess of pottage, and all for a measly $750 a week."

Judge Thomas' charge to the jury was the same in substance as the one he delivered in the case of Texas Guinan, but was milder in tone. He declared it was not necessary for the Government to prove Miss Morgan a proprietor of the night club if it proved that "know-

SUED FOR DIVORCE

WILL HAYS SEEKS DIVORCE, WANTS CUSTODY OF SON

Motion Picture Czar Brings Suit in Sullivan County, Indiana, Where Marriage Took Place in 1902.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 19.—Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican National Committee and now president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, yesterday filed suit in the Sullivan County Circuit Court for a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Helen Thomas Hays.

The cause is incompatibility of temperament.

The divorce suit has long been expected in Sullivan, Hays' home town, for it has been known for years that Hays and Mrs. Hays were not living together.

Hays asked for the custody of his 14-year-old son, Will H. Hays Jr., who is now attending a boys' school in the East.

The courtship of the pair took place in Crawfordsville while Hays was attending Wabash College.

The wedding took place in 1902 at a Battle Creek (Mich.) sanitarium. He was advised by his physicians to delay the announcement of the marriage so that he might escape, during convalescence, the messages and visits of friends.

HOTELS CAN SEND COPYRIGHTED RADIO MUSIC TO ROOMS

U. S. Judge Otis Upholds Central Receiving Sets—Phone Graphs Barred.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 19.—The right of hotels owning central receiving sets to receive and transmit to guest rooms over loud speakers copyrighted music or systems copyrighted music broadcast from radio stations, was upheld here yesterday by Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis.

Judge Otis' decision, said to be the first of its kind, was handed down in the suit of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers against the La Salle Hotel here for alleged infringement of copyright on a musical composition received on the hotel's master receiving set and heard in guest rooms through individual loud speakers.

The decision drew a line between radio programs and talking machine records and the plaintiffs were awarded $250 damages for alleged transmission of a record by the hotel.

Judge Otis held that in the case of the radio program, the hotel owners did not perform the copyrighted work but merely provided means by which it might be heard.

"The right to perform a musical composition does not carry with it a proprietary interest in the waves that go out upon the air," the decision said. "They are as much the common property of all as the sunshine and the zephyr."

A talking machine record, it was held, is a separate distinct thing from the original performance in the studio where it was made, whereas in the case of a radio program the waves sent out upon the ether are the performance itself.

MISSISSIPPI LEVEE GIVES WAY AT KNOWLTON, ARK.

Thousands of Sandbags Utilized to Prevent Widening of 400-Foot Crevasse.

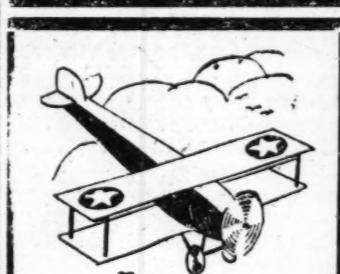

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 19.—Four hundred feet of the main Mississippi River levee at Knowlton, Ark., has caved into the river. Engineers today based their hope for preventing a huge crevasse on a banquet hurriedly looped around the caved-in section.

Thousands of sandbags have been placed back of the new dirt loop to strengthen it and these are reinforced with heavy timbers. All available men from Laconia circle and from Helena have been taken to the scene by United States steamers. It was at the same place that the dike gave way April 20, 1927, sweeping the Government launch Pelican through the crevasse and carrying 27 men to their deaths.

The cave-in was caused by a head-on current setting in and undermining the base of the embankment. The situation was regarded as serious because the river bank continued caving and fears were held that the fresh dirt on which the banquet was built would give way.

COURT RULES CHIROPRACTIC
DEVICE INFRINGES ON PATENTROLLA (Mo.) Man Ordered to Cease Operations and Make Accounting of Profits.

The clinometer, a machine used by chiropractors in diagnosis, and manufactured and sold by Bert R. Nichols, Rolla, Mo., chiropractor is an infringement of patents held by the Palmer School of Chiropractic of Davenport, Ia., on a similar device, the neurocalometer. Federal Judge Paris held yesterday.

An injunction restraining Nichols and his company, the Nichols

Electric Manufacturing Co., from further operations, was granted to the Palmer school, and an accounting of profits on Nichols' clinometer was ordered. A special master will be appointed to determine the amount of damages.

The machine is moved up and down the human spine to find "hot spots" or points of trouble in the vertebra, according to the chiropractic theory.

WANTS TARIFF CHANGES BASED ON MORE DATA

Commission Recommends Revision of Law Governing President's Power to Alter Rates of Duty.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 19.—Recommendations for changes in the administrative provisions of the tariff law to give the President a broader base for determining rates of duty under the flexible clause have been submitted to the House Ways and Means Committee by the Tariff Commission.

The proposed changes, thought in the main to meet the approval of President Hoover, would permit the commission to take into account a number of other cost factors instead of merely the differences in cost of production of articles here and abroad in arriving at a base for determining changes in duties.

Declaring that the cost of production of a commodity does not correctly measure its competitive advantage or disadvantage in foreign trade, the commission proposed that the law be so written as to permit it to base its reports to the President for duty changes on costs of production, invoice prices of imports, and wholesale prices in the United States and in the principal competing countries.

Would Include Transportation.
Transportation charges to the principal market or markets of the United States its report said, also should be calculated in view of the competitive conditions affecting particular products.

Effect of the commission to determine foreign production costs long have met with objections abroad. President Hoover called attention to this cause for international friction in his message to Congress and declared the commission's scope for determining rate bases should be enlarged to enable it to make speedier reports.

Ascertaining of production costs is extremely difficult in many cases, the commission's report said, and in some cases is practically impossible. Irritation aroused in foreign countries, it added, could be avoided by "setting up a more practicable and workable standard."

13 Factors Enumerated.
The commission enumerated 13 factors that might be taken into consideration in finding the differences in competitive conditions, including the cost of production or other similar charges, and the selling expenses, including a reasonable amount for advertising. The commission was divided on these two factors, but was unanimous on the others.

Another change suggested was that the section providing counter-vailing duties to offset discriminations against American trade be broadened "so as to permit action of a different sort, which in certain cases might be made effective without harm to American industry and commerce."

In its present form, the commission said, the corrective action provided in the section is "limited to products of the discriminating country and this limitation may in some cases make the statute ineffective and even injurious to American commerce." While these proposed changes and other proposals were being studied by the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee, registered an informal protest against the committee for hearing Secretary Stimson in connection with its consideration of administrative changes in the law.

15 RACEHORSES KILLED IN FIRE AT HAVRE DE GRACE

Between $50,000 and $75,000 Worth of Stock Lost
When Flames Destroy Two Barns at Maryland Track.

By the Associated Press
HAVRE DE GRACE, Mo., April 19.—A check today showed that 14 horses perished in the flames which destroyed two stables at the Havre de Grace racetrack here last night, and one other racer, Adrienne G, owned by Joseph D. Keith, was destroyed after it had broken a leg in the excitement which accompanied the blaze.

The horses which were burned to death were: Seigno, also owned by Keith; Parchesi, Arnold H. Higgin, owned by H. C. Cox; Ingrid, Goodwin and El Canoe, owned by William H. Denham; Shasta Khan, owned by C. E. Applegate; Loss o' Gowlie, owned by James McNally, and Lady Joan, New Guinea, My Chum, Waterfall and Edwin B, owned by Jerry Murphy.

The fire is thought by track executives to have started from the explosion of an oil stove in the stable occupied by all of the horses which were burned to death. It was discovered shortly before 8 o'clock.

Neither track officials nor owners of the horses would place an estimate on the total loss entailed in the burning of the horses, but said that it would be between $50,000 and $75,000.

Track executives said today's races would be run as scheduled. Many of the horses were saved through the efforts of trainers, jockeys and stable hands who rushed through the smoke and led them to safety before they became too excited to be handled or injured themselves against the walls of their stalls.

1500 MILES BY PLANE AND TRAIN TO MOTHER'S BEDSIDE

Dr. Richard Light reaches Kalamazoo (Mich.) from San Antonio ("Tex.") in 19 hours. Dr. Richard Light, a flying cadet at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex., traveled 1500 miles by airplane and train in about 19 hours yesterday to reach the bedside of his mother, who is seriously ill at their home in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Dr. Light received a telegram at 3:20 a. m. yesterday requesting that he come home, and took off in an army plane from San Antonio at 5:30 for Dallas. At 8:30 he left Dallas for St. Louis in the regular passenger plane of the Safeway Air Line, arriving at Lambert-St. Louis Field at 3:15 p. m. An hour later he departed for Chicago in a mail plane, arriving at Chicago at 7:15 o'clock, in time to board a train due at Kalamazoo at midnight.

The fare by plane from Dallas to St. Louis is $82, and from St. Louis to Chicago $36. Dr. Light, a graduate physician, is taking a military flying course at Kelly Field.

WHY DAKOTA MAIL IS LATE

Carrier Points Through Snow to Where Chimney Should Be.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Postoffice Department recently forwarded a complaint about mail deliveries on the route from Paradise, N. D., to Watagan, S. D., to Carrier C. E. McKeon, and has received in reply a picture and a caption which are combined in an adequate answer to the complaint.

The picture was of McKeon sitting on the roof of his house trying to scrape the snow off the chimney top. The caption reads: "Weather 42 below zero—arrow points to where chimney ought to be."

TWO COUSINS KILLED
BY KANSAS CITY GANG

Bodies Are Found 65 Miles Apart on Opposite Sides of the City.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 19.—Thought to have been slain by the same gang in a North Side "sugar whisky" feud, the bodies of two cousins were found yesterday on opposite sides of Kansas City, 65 miles apart.

The two were identified as James Palmer, 26 years old, and Phillip Palmer or Hamel, 24, said by police to be Italian colony bootleggers and thought to have become the object of gangland ire because of their alleged participation in the robbery of a bootleggers' supply house nearly three weeks ago.

The body of James Palmer was found three miles west of Kansas City, Kan., on a sideroad. Neighbors said they heard shots at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. His cousin's body was discovered two miles east of Concordia, Mo. Just after daybreak, in a water-filled ditch beside a paved highway. Concordia is 65 miles east of Kansas City, Mo. Both had been shot in the head and chest.

Police said they came here from New York 18 months ago. They were well-dressed and when found each was wearing an expensive wrist watch and had a small amount of currency.

SUSPECT FREED IN KIDNAPING OF CHICAGO BOY SLAIN

Joseph Perconti Shot Dead
With Sawed-off Shotguns in His Yard at Joliet, Ill.

By the Associated Press.
JOLIET, Ill., April 19.—Joseph Perconti, 57 years old, who is said to have given information to police on which they found the kidnapers of Billy Ranieri, 10 years old, of Chicago, was assassinated last night in his own yard.

Perconti was one of those arrested with the kidnapers, and when the case against him later was dismissed, the understanding was that it was in consideration of information which resulted in the conviction of two men for the abduction.

Perconti had just put away his automobile in the garage at the rear of his home last night when two or more men from a curtained automobile discharged sawed-off shotguns at him at close range. The two weapons were found 150 feet away.

Among those being sought today for the killing was Perconti's brother, Tony, who was one of the men charged with the actual kidnaping of the Ranieri boy but who never was apprehended. Police think Tony may have killed his brother in the belief that Joe Perconti's story to officers had involved him in the abduction.

Mr. Joe Perconti said he received a phone call late yesterday threatening her husband's life unless he turned over a large sum of money to the caller who, when asked his identity, said: "Joe will know who."

When she told her husband of the call, he merely shrugged his shoulders, Mrs. Perconti said, and made no comment. Six hours later he was dead. Several companions were clubbed.

Following Scully's murder, an Assistant State's Attorney who was in charge of the prosecution, declared in open court: "None of our lives are safe." Prosecutors, witnesses, jurors and even the presiding Judge received threatening letters and phone calls during and preceding the trial.

Billy Ranieri, son of a Chicago sewer contractor, was kidnaped last September near his school and he was held prisoner nearly two weeks, finally being released when police began closing in on the farm house where he was held prisoner.

Angelo Pettiti and Andrew Capellano were convicted of the kidnaping. Joe Perconti, who was a witness in negotiations for the boy's release, was arrested with Pettiti but was released and the charge against him later was dismissed.

SENATE GROUP REPORTS OUT ST. LOUIS POLICE PENSION BILL
Casey of Kansas City, Who Has Been Fighting Measure, Absent
When Action Is Taken.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—The fight of Senator Casey of Kansas City against the St. Louis Police Pension bill will be transferred from the Committee on Municipal Corporations to the floor of the Senate, the committee last night having voted to report the bill favorably.

The final fight to get the bill from the committee, where because of Casey's opposition it has been held for many weeks, was made yesterday afternoon when Henry Kortjohn and Arthur J. Freund, who retired early this week as members of the Board of Police Commissioners, presented arguments for it.

Casey was absent from the public hearing and again was absent from an executive session of the Senate last night, when a vote was taken on a report. The bill was sent out without amendments of importance, the only one affecting its provisions being the inclusion of police chauffeurs under the pension.

FALL OF 1-2 PCT. REPORTED IN ST. LOUIS FOOD PRICES

Decrease on Retail Market Between Feb. 15 and March 15
Noted by U. S. Bureau.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Retail food prices in St. Louis decreased less than one-half of 1 per cent from Feb. 15 to March 15, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. There was a similar decline in most of the other large cities of the United States. From March 15, 1928, to March 15, 1929, St. Louis prices increased 2 per cent, as compared with average costs in 1913. St. Louis prices are now 57 per cent higher.

KILLED TRYING TO PREVENT INSULT TO MEXICAN PRESIDENT

Mexican Army Aviator Shot by Men Putting Up Posters Charging "Connivance."

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, April 19.—A Mexican Army aviator has lost his life in prevention of an insult to his country's President, Emilio Portes Gil, and United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow. By a peculiar twist of irony, the insult which he sought to avert materialized anyway.

Wednesday night Lieut. Joaquin

Garcia Bolanos saw a group of men pasting some posters to walls on the outskirts of Mexico City. He stopped to read one and saw on it the statement that President Portes Gil and Ambassador Morrow were conniving "to destroy Mexico," a subsequent sentence describing Morrow as the enemy of this country.

Lieut. Bolanos remonstrated with the men and attempted to take the posters from them. One drew his pistol and shot the young aviator, inflicting wounds from which he died early today. The entire group escaped.

Police, at about the time he was dying, discovered walls about the city had been covered with hundreds of the posters, and immediately set about removing them.

Ambassador Morrow said nothing of the affair at his usual weekly press conference Thursday evening, and it was not until late last night that the reference to him and to President Portes Gil was disclosed by the police.

SIX ANTI-PROHIBITION BILLS INTRODUCED BY COCHRAN

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Six measures dealing with the prohibition laws have been introduced in the House by Congressman John J. Cochran (Dem.), St. Louis.

One is a joint resolution providing for the outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Another would permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wine with an alcohol content up to three per cent. A third described as a measure to bring the Volstead act into conformity with the constitution would make the law apply only to beverages "intoxicating in fact."

The three other bills relate to enforcement methods, one would place violation of the search and seizure amendment in the class of felonies. Under another all prohibition agents would be required to give bond and a citizen injured by an agent would be permitted to sue for damages. The third measure in this category would prohibit the introduction of evidence obtained in violation of the search and seizure amendment.

New Assistant Bank Examiner.—JEFFERSON CITY April 13.—Eimer J. Glessman of St. Louis has been appointed as an assistant bank examiner by S. L. Cattley, State Finance Commissioner, it was announced today. He succeeds Charles Gilles of Clayton, resigned.

was signed over to the Shoreo Mining Co. of Denver last night to meet a $16,000 mortgage which Mrs. Tabor was unable to pay.

The mine was the only property left the widow upon the death of the Senator, whose career in the boom days of Colorado and his lavish expenditures marked him as one of the most colorful figures in the history of the west.

In her old age, the widow has tenaciously clung to the matchless mine in the hope that it may bring her new riches. On four occasions she redeemed mortgages on the property at the eleventh hour. Today she declared she still was hopeful of regaining title to the mine.

Organization Expects to be Free of Obligations by 1931, Bulliet Says.

Unlike the experience in late years of many clubs in various parts of the country, the University Club here has been enjoying financial success. It is shown in the April issue of the University Club News, and expects to be free of indebtedness by 1931. It owns 42½ shares or 25 per cent of the stock of the company holding its 15-story building at Grand and Washington boulevards, and these have a book value of $226,890. The company's property is valued in excess of $1,000,000 and its debt is $457,000.

The club bought 700 shares of the company, with a par value of $70,000, in 1918, shortly after erection of the building, which was put up on a starting capital of $145,000. There was then a debt of $800,000 which was met by a $25,000 first mortgage, a $100,000 second mortgage and $175,000 floating. All net earnings have been applied to the principal and interest. The floating debt has been paid off and two mortgages were retired March 1, but a new loan of $437,000, at 5 per cent, was obtained from a trust company. The principal of the indebtedness has been reduced in 10 years by $550,000.

Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart Declares She Wants "Blacklist" to Be Forgotten.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—With a new president-general, Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart of Cincinnati, the Daughters of the American Revolution gave attention to dedication of Constitutional Hall, the $2,000,000 auditorium which their new administration hopes to complete.

Mrs. Hobart, who swept to victory in yesterday's election with a support that carried with her every candidate on her ticket, said immediately afterward that she would pursue the policies of her predecessor, Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, in every respect.

"And we'll keep everyone so interested, people will forget there ever was a blacklist," she added, mentioning specifically the guarding of national defense, eliminating speakers who "do not love our country," marking historic spots and highways for posterity, and in other ways adhering to the organization's purpose of preserving American patriotism.

The new president-general was the first president of the American Legion Auxiliary, said she is a believer in the extension of woman's activities beyond the home and in woman's political activity, but thinks that feminine extra-domestic endeavors should be a sideline to the main business of homemaking.

She said the new Constitution Hall "must be finished" by Sept. 1, as she has arranged to rent it to the Philadelphia orchestra for seven concerts, beginning on that date. This, she said, is the first big material aim on her program.

Other officers elected: Chaplain general, Mrs. W. Painter of Missouri; recording secretary-general, Mrs. Charles Humphrey Bissell of Connecticut; corresponding secretary-general, Miss Margaret B. Barnett of Pennsylvania; organizing secretary-general, Mrs. William A. Becker of New Jersey; treasurer general, Mrs. Harriet Vaughn Rigdon of Indiana; registrar general, Mrs. Joann A. Van Oordt of District of Columbia; historian general, Mrs. Flossie Myers; president of Tenters; recorder-general to the Smithsonian Institution, Miss Anne Lang of Oregon; librarian general, Mrs. Russell W. Magna of Massachusetts; curator general, Mrs. Samuel Jackson Kramer of New York; vice president generals, Mrs. Daniel Garrison of Maryland, Mrs. Ralph Van Landingham of North Carolina, Mrs. William L. Manchester of Rhode Island, Mrs. Katherine Kitteridge of Vermont, Mrs. William Smith Shaw of Maine, Mrs. Robert B. Campbell of Kansas, Mrs. N. Howland Brown of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Herbert Backus of Ohio.

LINDBERGH HOME MEMORIAL

Flyer's Birthplace in Detroit Bought by Swedish Society.

DETROIT, Mich., April 13.—The three-story brick house in which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was born has been purchased by the Swedish Engineering Society of Detroit and is to be preserved as a memorial to the flyer, it is announced.

The announcement said the house would not be converted into a Lindbergh museum open to the public but would be open only to members of the society and their invited guests. Officers of the society said that while a number of Lindbergh memorials would be "suitably placed in the home, the house will maintain the atmosphere of a home rather than a show place."

Leopold, N. C.—Mrs. R. L. Simmons, of 111 Broadway, this city, has written a report of how she recovered her health after having been in a painful, weak condition some time ago.

"I suffered dreadfully with a pain in my side," she says. "Sometimes I was up and again I was down."

"I felt so weak. My back hurt with a dull pain. I had fainting spells and was dizzy and weak at times."

"I was very nervous and did not sleep well. I began to get thin, and had no color, in fact I had a sallow look and was very miserable."

Mrs. Simmons writes that a friend of hers told her about Cardui.

"So I decided to take Cardui," she continues. "My friend was taking it, and she said it helped her. So we took it along together."

"I soon began to feel stronger, and my appetite came back. I took Cardui for several months, and my health improved a whole lot. When I had finished taking it, I felt fine."

HAVRE ISSUES VACCINATION

Deputy Mayor of Port City Acts
After Nation Bars It Sus-

By the Associated Press.

HAVRE, France, April 19.—The Deputy Mayor yesterday decreed that all persons landing from England must have certificates of vaccination within the last six months or submit to vaccination before landing. Despite the fact that the national bank has been suspended, he took action under authority of the law of 1855 giving such power to Mayors of port cities.

The Deputy Mayor said that the reason for his decree was that the smallpox epidemic in England was violent and might result fatally to France if urgent measures were not taken.

When the Mayor notified Louis Loucheur, Minister of Labor, under whose direction the Health De-

Representatives of 14 St. Louis iron and steel fabricating concerns at a meeting this week expressed their opposition to the wage increase of 25 cents an hour de-here, effective May 1.

A spokesman for the fabricators said the group is of the opinion that a wage increase will be detrimental to an active building program. The Associated Building Interests, composed of employers using union labor, issued a similar statement several months ago in announcing opposition to wage demands by six local unions.

Union iron workers, numbering about 800 men, now receive $1.50 an hour and are asking $1.75 an hour on May 1. Union stone cutters are asking a similar increase effective the same time. The other unions have fixed later dates for wage increase. Employers are hopeful of a settlement without an

We're bringing up our "Big Berthas"

DURING the past few months we've been "holding the line"—doing business in our usual conservative manner. But now the Spring campaign is on, and we're bringing up our "big guns"—determined to prove conclusively by one master stroke of merchandising strategy that BARTLETT CLOTHES are the greatest values in the market. Here you'll find an array of new BARTLETT CLOTHES, fresh from our own Chicago tailoring shops—"Big Bertha" values which will explode in the local market like a ton of dynamite—values which will be heard of and heeded by every man who wants the most he can get for the money he spends.

Fabrics never before seen in clothes costing less than $50

Our woolen scouts recently made a tremendous purchase of fine woolens from the country's leading mills—woolens heretofore used only in suits costing from $50.00 up. We're not even permitted to mention the names of the mills from whom we purchased these fine fabrics on account of the low Bartlett price. However, that's not important. The important thing is that we have them. You need only see them to be convinced that here's a value surpassing anything you've ever seen in brand-new men's clothes.

When we say $50 values —we mean $50 values!

It would be almost impossible to over-emphasize these values we now have on display. So that when we say "$50 values," don't think that we mean $40.00 values or $30.00 values. We mean $50.00 fabrics—$50.00 style—and $50.00 wearing quality. We mean that we have these fabrics tailored in a full range of sizes and models including special sizes for "hard-to-fit" men. We cannot afford to exaggerate. We value our reputation too highly. So that when we say "$50.00 values for only $23.50," you can be sure we mean just that and nothing else!

PLANE USED TO CHECK FLU
EPIDEMIC IN MANITOBA

Disease Had Killed 22 of 800 Indians in Tribe When Aid Arrived

OTTAWA, April 19.—How an epidemic of influenza that had taken the lives of 22 Indians of a tribe of 800 in Manitoba was checked by the use of an airplane was disclosed in Government reports today.

News of the epidemic reached the Government Agent of Indian Affairs at Norway House in Manitoba on March 30, and he called on the Air Operations Branch of the Department of National Defense for aid.

An airplane that had been engaged in photographic work in the vicinity of Cormorant Lake, Manitoba, was ordered by radio to proceed to the Indian settlement at Island Lake, on the northern tip of Lake Winnipeg. Taking aboard supplies and a physician, Flight Lieutenant F. L. Mandley proceeded to the scene, and the epidemic was checked promptly.

Two Little Palm Civets, Three European Wild Boars and Two Andads Among Newcomers.

With the advent of spring, new-comers are appearing in the cages and enclosures of the St. Louis Zoological Garden. Two young palm civets soon can be seen at the small mammal house, three baby European wild boars are trotting about their paddock near the lion house, while just below, two baby andads, or Barbary sheep, are learning to climb the steep observation platform in their pen. All seven were born at the zoo.

In addition, two Lalande's wild dogs, small, rare, fox-like animals from Africa, are on display in the mammal house. They are the only two of this species in America.

Emmerson Signs Bridge Bill.
Gov. Signs Bill to Mount Carmel, Ill., April 19.
Gov. Emmerson has signed a bill appropriating $270,000 as Illinois' share toward bringing the Wabash River at Mount Carmel. The Governor signed the document with a pen made here. An old-fashioned draw bridge, constructed so as to permit the passage of the high-stacked steamboats that plied the Wabash in the eighties and nineties, still spans the river here.

FINDS PILFERING MAID IS MISSING DAUGHTER

Mrs. Jessie Swagger Hicks Says "Billy Needham" Is Only 15 Years Old.

Helen Swagger, a 15-year-old blonde with a romantic imagination, who disappeared from her home at 2941 Folsom avenue March 11, has been found—in a police cell—after varied adventures.

"That's my girl!" exclaimed Mrs. Jessie Swagger Hicks when she read in yesterday's newspapers of "Billy Needham," also known as "Billy Reed" and Helen Hicks, 15-year-old housemaid.

Mrs. Hicks had not read of a previous arrest on March 31, when "Billy Reed," her name at that time, was taken into custody for stealing two rings from a room at McMillan Hall, Washington University, where she was employed as maid. For that theft, she was sentenced to six months in the Clayton jail, but paroled when she told a hard-luck story. She was the daughter of a prominent family at Murphysboro, Ill., she said, and had come to St. Louis to start a stage career. Unable to obtain employment behind the footlights, she had become housemaid temporarily. Touched by the girl's story, a kind-hearted Deputy Sheriff gave her bus fare to return to Murphysboro.

Of course, she did not go to Murphysboro. Instead, she obtained employment as a maid at the home of E. Van Tuyl Crawford, 7704 Shirley drive, Clayton. She disappeared Wednesday, and so did an evening gown, a fur coat and other apparel belonging to Mrs. Crawford and valued at $2000.

Attired in the stolen finery, she danced most of the night at the Nanking Inn, 718 Washington avenue. She caught the eye of Edgar Krewinghaus, a 22-year-old musician there, and when his work was done, he hurried to an apartment she had rented at the Huntington Arms, 5561 Pershing avenue.

In the meantime Crawford had traced his missing housemaid to the Pershing avenue address, and was waiting, with police, when she drove up at 3 o'clock in the morning, accompanied by still another admirer. This time "Billy Reed" told police her name was "Billy Needham" or Helen Hicks, take your choice. However, her picture in the papers was recognized as that of Helen Swagger.

Krewinghaus was arrested in her kitchen, turned loose and released last night at the Nanking Inn. Police announced they would seek a warrant charging Krewinghaus with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

CECILIA LOFTUS TO WED AGAIN

Dr. Edward J. Johnson of New Haven, Conn., to Be Third Husband

NEW YORK. April 19.—Announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Cecilia Loftus, actress and impersonator, to Dr. Edward J. Johnson of New Haven, Conn. It will be the third marriage for Miss Loftus. The wedding, it is reported, will take place next fall after Miss Loftus has completed her theatrical engagements.

Miss Loftus was a favorite in the English music halls before coming to America. Her first husband, whom she married in England in 1894, was Justin Huntly McCarthy, author and playwright. Her second marriage was to Dr. A. H. Waterman of Chicago, in 1909.

The Merritt, Chapman & Scott steamer Killerig has been adrift since April 13. The Killerig has lost a great deal of salvage gear at work in an effort to refloat the freighter.

By the Associated Press.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 19.—The Norwegian freighter Bull

Bridge, a 7029 ton vessel, was aground today on Alligator Reef, off the south shore of Jamaica.

RAIDERS OUTWITTED BY LOTTO GAME OWNER

Their Decoy Only Person in Hall Who Bought Ticket—
No Prizes Offered.

In preparing for a raid on a lotto game at Baisch's Hall, 7700 Gravois road, Deputy Sheriff Elmo of Affton had his wife buy a 25-cent ticket with a marked $1 bill yesterday afternoon.

While his wife played the game with 15 other women, Deputy Elmo hurried to Clayton and took Chief Deputy Arnold Willmann to the hall. When the deputies entered the hall to break up the game, the women players, except Mrs. Elmo, laughed. They explained the game was played without prizes or admission charge, that only one ticket had been sold, and that to Mrs. Elmo, because they knew she wanted to buy a ticket for evidence.

No arrests were made, but Deputy Willmann warned Edward Baisch, the proprietor, not to permit any gambling in his hall. Baisch agreed not to hold any prize lotto games until the courts decide whether the Sheriff and his deputies are within their rights in closing lotto halls as gambling places.

Suit was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday by Ernest Wein, proprietor of Lindy Hall, 6310A Easton avenue, and Robert Boothe, proprietor of Westlon Hall, 6222 Easton avenue, to enjoin Sheriff Lill from further interference with their activities. Lill will appear in Judge Mulroy's court next Friday to show cause why the injunction should not be issued. The halls were raided last Monday.

The proprietors and their patrons who assembled at the halls in Westlon today, after purchasing their tickets, that they had decided to suspend activities until after the Court had ruled on the injunction. Money paid for tickets was refunded. About 125 women had assembled at each place.

BLAMES DRIVER IN BOY'S DEATH

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned at an inquest today into the death of Charles, 7-year-old son of L. C. Harris, a Negro, of 3042 Clarendon place, who died at city hospital No. 2 yesterday of a fractured skull, suffered Wednesday when he was struck by the automobile driven by Henry Rhodes, 121 Emerling drive, St. Louis County. Rhodes is at liberty under $5000 bond.

The accident occurred at LaPlace avenue, near Clarendon place. Witnesses testified the automobile was speeding and stopped 40 feet from the scene. Two passengers in Rhodes' car said it was driven slowly and that the boy darted into its path.

How Weak Nervous
Women Grow Stronger Feel Better, Look Younger and Have Steadier Nerves

If you only knew—you run down, anemic women, who are dragging yourself around on your "nerves"—what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. Edna F. Sawyers, of 1229 Fourth Ave., Huntington, W. Va., says "I was seriously troubled with gastritis and terrific headaches. I could hardly do half my housework. After two bottles of Tanlac I was eating everything and gastritis hasn't troubled me again."

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 10 years have recommended it to men and women who need a quick "pick up" that will put them on their feet and give them new interest in life.

So confidence are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

WINS BOSTON MARATHON FOR SECOND TIME

BATEAU, FAVORITE FINISHES LAST IN HAVRE FEATURE

By the Associated Press.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 19.—The Wild Rose Farm's Cross-co, ridden by Sonny Workman, accounted for the Madonna Handicap, for fillies and mares 3 years old and under, today. Jeffeson Livingston, 2 years old, was eighth in 2:42:06. Ronald O'Toole of St. Johns, Newfoundland, was eighth in 2:42:17, and De Mar, six-time winner of the race, was ninth in 2:42:47.

BOTTOMLEY'S Grandmother Dies.

LA SALLE, Ill., April 19.—Mrs. Elm Bottomley, grandmother of Jim Bottomley, first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, died early today at her home in Oglesby. She was born in England 87 years ago, coming to Oglesby at the age of 27. She was the wife of John Bottomley.

RECREATION Dashed to the front followed by Crossco. They had the race between them all the way.

Recreation had fine speed and handled her weight well, but when the field straightened out in the stretch for the run to the wire, Workman beat Crossco to the front. She won over the other sharpies, crossing Plichter to Riesner to take up. However, Crossco was much the best and won by a length and a half. Recreation was an easy second, beating Maxiva three lengths. The winner paid $7.90.

REHNSDORF'S HITTING .375 FOR THREE GAMES

The busting twins of the world's champion Yankees, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, broke into the Big Six for the first time in their debut opening game yesterday and promptly assumed places near the top. The Babe cracked out his first homer of the season, his fifth, this afternoon at the plate. The Yankees' hitting was good, too, with Ruth, hitting safely twice in four attempts, Rogers Hornsby getting one hit and two runs in a pair of official times at bat, holding the next place. Paul Waner and Jim Bottomley failed to hit.

The standing:

CHICAGO, April 19.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, today set May 4 as the date for his marriage to Miss Elaine Tomaso of Chicago, at Riverside, Calif. It will be his third trip to the altar. Kerr popped to Blue. ONE RUN.

BROWNS—Schang walked. Stewart sacrificed. Clancy to Kerr on first. Blue flied to Reynolds. Connelly replaced Dugan on the hill for the White Sox. Kerr threw out O'Rourke.

JOHNNY MILES OF CANADA WINS MARATHON IN RECORD TIME

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 19.—Johnny Miles of Sydney, Nova Scotia, today won the thirty-second annual Boston Athletic Association marathon. It was the second time he has won the event. In repeating his 1926 victory, Miles shattered the old record of 2h 37m and 74-6s by covering the 26 miles, 285 yards in 2 h. 32 m. 84-5 s.

Karl Koski, running under the colors of the Finnish-American A. C. of New York, was second and Willie Kyronen, of the same club, was third. Both Koski and Kyronen broke the old record established last year by Clarence De Mar, veteran Melrose runner. Koski's time was 2:35:26 and Kyronen's 2:35:44.

Whitey Michelsen of the Millrose A. A. of New York came in fourth, less than two minutes behind Kyronen. Michelsen's time was 2:39:25.

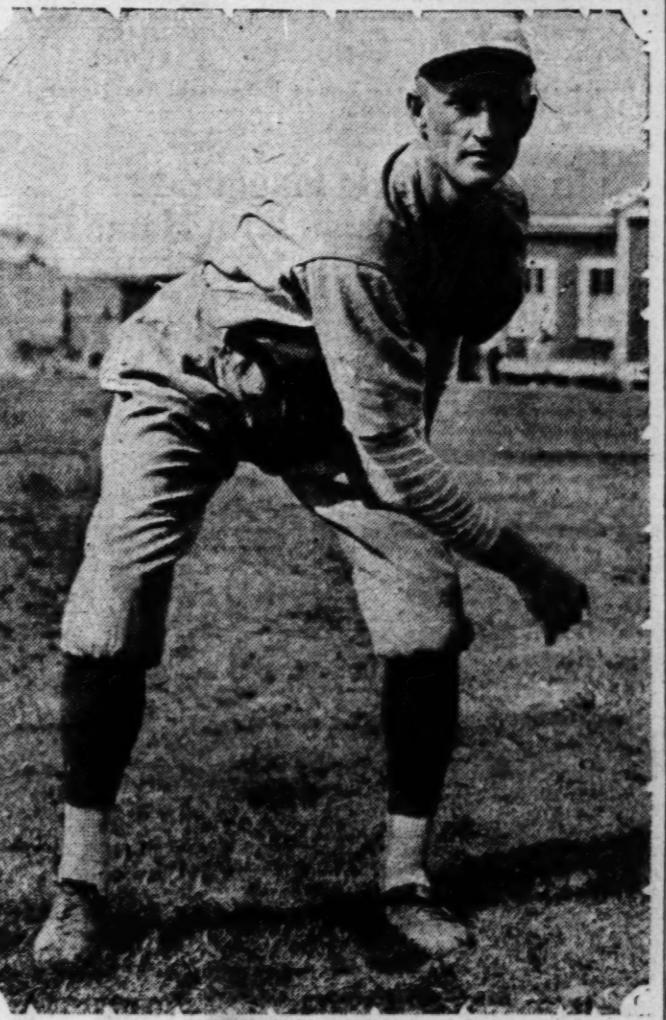

Miles was running under the colors of the Olympic Club of Hamilton, Ont.

CANADIANS FINIS: Well.

Jack Lamb of the Dorchester Club, who led the field during the first half of the race, was in fifth place at the time. His time was 2:39:25.

He led William Taylor of Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, who was sixth, by 42 seconds. G. Ruey salainen of the North Branch Y. M. C. A., Montreal, was eighth in 2:41:06. Ronald O'Toole of St. Johns, Newfoundland, was eighth in 2:41:17, and De Mar, six-time

THREE MADISON PLAYERS NAMED "MOST VALUABLE" SOCCER STARS

JOE McCARTHY OF TABLERS CHOSEN
AS OUTSTANDING FORWARD OF YEAR

SOCCER LEAGUE'S
MOST VALUABLE
STARS LAST YEAR

Charles La Barge, goaltender.
Joe Hand, fullback.
Eddie Burke, halfback.
Joe McCarthy, forward.

By Dent McSkimming

The foregoing four players were selected as the most valuable in their positions by all athletes in the St. Louis Soccer League for the season 1928-29 by a committee agreed to make such selection, at a meeting held last night. President W. E. Barker of the professional league accepted the selections and, in an address to club owners of the organization, announced that each of the four men named will be presented with a suitably engraved watch as a mark of esteem from the league.

Although the committee agreed unanimously in its selection, it had under consideration several players for each of the four divisions.

Two Fine Halfbacks.

There was threat of a deadlock over the halfback fullback of the Madison club and Bill Lehman of the Welltons were rivals. Had it not been for the fact that the Welltons reached the national cup final whereas the Welltons finished on the bottom of the local league standing, the selection might have been altered. However, Burke was so prominent a factor in the march of the Madisons to national recognition, especially in the game against the Hollies of Detroit, that it was almost mandatory that he be selected. Burke's single achievement in smothering the highly esteemed Gerrit Visser of Holley, an international figure, was almost enough to gain him highest honors.

In the forward line there was an inclination to give consideration to several outstanding players, including Eddie Hart, Jim Ahrens and Eddie Hansen, but the dominating factor of Joe McCarthy's game won the day. He was selected by the committee as the most forceful as well as one of the most skillful forwards in the league, a player who by his own personal influence, raised the caliber of his team's play almost 50 per cent.

Little Question Here.

There was little question as to the fullback and goal selections where Joe Hand and Charles La Barge stood out above their contemporaries. Johnny Haning may one day be even a better goalie than La Barge was this season but the Madison guardian was without a peer in 1928-29. Joe Hand, it was agreed, inspired the Madison defense, culminating into the St. Louis-bred players something of an understanding of old country methods and making of his own club one of the strongest defensive units ever brought together.

It is understood that the awarding of "most valuable" prizes to the St. Louis Soccer League season, the purpose being to encourage a higher type of individual perfection in the players. It was quite apparent in the recent cup series that players of the Sparta and Hakoah teams were more polished workmen in the matter of handling the ball than the St. Louis lads.

The committee which made the selection was composed of local newspaper men who have followed the soccer teams all season.

Maloney Meets O'Kelly for 3d Time, Tonight

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 19.—It seems there were two Irishmen—Shamus Maloney and Con O'Kelly—who got into a fight and are still at it months after the first blow was struck.

New York saw the beginning of this fistic feud last December in Madison Square Garden and New York is getting the third installment of it tonight. In the meantime, while Shamus and Con have played Boston.

Tonight's clash between the two heavyweight sons of old Erin takes place at the New York Coliseum. It is billed for 10 rounds and if Maloney wins the series may end, as Shamus already has a draw and a decision to his credit.

O'Kelly, son of a famous Irish wrestler and boxer who visited these shores many years ago, asserted he was fouled several times by Maloney in their Boston brawl and should have been declared the winner.

He that as it may, Maloney has the official edge and since he is fighting again in his old-time form he is the favorite tonight. When he was "right" two years ago the Boston strong boy was a leading heavyweight contender. A knockout at the hands of his Hub rival, Jack Sharkey, all but ruined Shamus a year ago last summer. He has started all over again and is making an impressive record.

The Braves' 1929 Board of Strategy

They got off on the right foot yesterday, when the Braves inaugurated the National League campaign with a 13 to 12 victory over the Robins.

Kidding Himself.

After having been out of the Airing for four years, Harry Kalbouff, once a top-notch boxer, as St. Louis fighters go, is planning a comeback at the age of 22. Harry was in his prime 15 years ago. He began fighting at 15 or 16.

Harry tells us he has worked out for a month at conditioning practice and says he has boxed with Joe Rivers and others in the gymnasium.

I was surprised to find out how easy it was for me to regain condition and boxing form. I am almost fit now to take on a short fight," he said.

What Harry means is that he is ready to take on a short right to the chin.

Little Question Here.

There was little question as to the fullback and goal selections where Joe Hand and Charles La Barge stood out above their contemporaries.

Johnny Haning may one day be even a better goalie than La Barge was this season but the Madison guardian was without a peer in 1928-29. ## Evolution.

PAUL BERLENBACH, once light heavyweight fight champion, has gone in for wrestling. That may be an indication of just how far Paul has slipped, in more than one way.

In other days the trend was the other way—the wrestlers took up the fight game. Today, however, wrestling matches have taken on more aspects of fights—so as you—please fights. In fact, what with the flying-tackles of football, the ground and lofty tumbling of the circus, and the slapping and punching of the boxer profession, the evolution of wrestling has resulted in a hybrid that contains a little bit of everything and not much of anything.

A rough-and-tumble, lumber-camp brawl is about the nearest thing to the present idea of a wrestling bout.

Judged by regulations once governing wrestling, almost any match of today would disclose more fouls than a chicken ranch.

Watson, Pass the Needle!

JOSEPH MORRILL, father of Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, Mass., an alternate on the American women's tennis team which will play in Europe, has given the book "The Book" to his wife for the book." If true, his story is certainly an amazing indication that more men will not be exceeding anything to women's physical weakness.

Mr. Morrill, describing a match he had at Boston with a woman between the English woman player, Mrs. Satterthwaite, and Miss Valerie, declared that one rally of this match lasted 422 strokes; and that while this rally was on, Brugnon and Stefanoff, playing on the contiguous court, played five and one-half games.

That's harder to swallow than a green persimmon. But Mr. Morrill declared that an account

Ruth and Gehrig Inaugurate New Campaign With Home Runs

By the Associated Press.

Whatever the fate of the Yankees in their fourth quest for the rainbow's end and its pot of pennant gold, American League pitchers are due to spend many anxious afternoons trying to circumvent a Babe Ruth bent upon battering down the fences in left field instead of right. Employing an entirely new stance at the plate, with his left foot swung back almost out of the batter's box, the Big Bambino opened his 1929 campaign with a home run in his first attempt yesterday, and so started the Yankees toward a 7 to 3 triumph over the Red Sox in the first game at the Yankee Stadium.

Admittedly something of a problem to pitchers at this time in the past, Ruth in his new stance presents an entirely different puzzle to pitchers who already had decided that his only weakness was a base on balls. With the Babe standing back and firing at the left side, fielders also may have their troubles playing for the big slugger. Bill Carrigan's system of "playing him straight" may be the best after all.

The Yankee opening was Ruth's very own. With his bride of a day stationed in a box near the New York bench, the Babe started the season right with his left field homer, and after that everything he did was right. Lou Gehrig hit his famous 15 in the sixth, but the fans remained the box.

The cold weather kept the opening day crowd down to 33,000 hardy souls, but a good half of these mobbed the home run king in a friendly but vigorous fashion at the close. He was rather well done up from none too gentle slaps on the back as he gained the sanctuary of the Yankee dugout.

Yanks Get Wrist Watches.

All the usual frills, and a few more, marked the Yankee debut.

Judge Landis presented the Hug-

men with wrist watches, emblematic of the world's championship. Col. Jacob Ruppert and E. S. Barnard, president of the league, presented members of both teams to the flag-pole where the usual three banners were unfurled, and a ball game was played.

George Pippins carried his wildness into the championship season, and Miller Huggins yelled enough with one out in the sixth, the bases full of Red Sox, the Yanks only one run ahead and two balls called on the batter. The move had "stayed" given only three hits, but had separated them with nine bases on balls. Fred Heimach halted the disturbance. Gehrig hit his home run, and the Yankees went to win by 7.

The Athletics made it two straight over the Senators at Washington, winning by 8 to 2. Babe Ruth, out for his first career, never was in danger after the Mackmen got him six runs in the fifth.

Giants Capture Opener.

The Eastern opening of the National League was just as frostbitten as that of the American, and more dismal. The Giants gave an unkeep display in defeating the Phins by 10 to 4, and the less said about Boston's 13 to 12 victory over Brooklyn, the more charitable it will be for all concerned—including the 5000 venturesome Bostonians who paid to see it.

As the Giants, with Larry Benton in the box, sagged before a Philly rally in the ninth, distant rumble drifted from the Chicago front where Bruin howitzers again were blasting a path through Pithole defenses. The Cubs won by 11 to 1 behind Sheriff Fred Blaize, and made it two out of three from the Buccaneers.

NEW FOOTBALL LAW ON FUMBLE DRAWS PROTEST

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—Emphatic protest against the new football fumble rule and a plea that its application be postponed until 1929 are made by Sydney E. Hutchinson, chairman of the Council on Athletics and the football committee of the University of Pennsylvania, in an article for "Franklin Field Illustrated."

Babe Strikes His "Gate."

THE Sultan of Swat has been married.

For life he has taken a mate, which may or may not help the Monarch of Swat.

But it's bound to be good for the gate.

The Babe had been having some trouble

In getting his eye on the sphere.

When the son-of-a-gun

Made the greatest home run

Of his brilliant and checkered career.

The Babe got a rousing ovation

The first time he walked to the plate.

For there isn't a doubt

That the Kleagle of Klout

Made a wonderful play for the gate.

Laugh That One Off.

Scotland won the soccer championship of the British Isles, defeating England 1 to 0. That is one of those Scotch jokes that happen to be on the Englishman.

Much Unfavorable Comment.

Also, "that hereafter no important changes in the rules become effective until one year after they have been promulgated, or until they have been approved by a representative membership of the National Collegiate Athletic Association."

"In my collection, which extends back to my own football days in the '50s," Mr. Hutchinson says, "no change has produced so much unfavorable comment.

"Comment which has come from spectators, old players and newspaper critics, has, in my judgment, been so uniformly unfavorable that I should think the committee would seriously consider whether it had not made a mistake or at least had acted too hastily."

The Penn alumnus also registers objection to the rule moving back the goal posts, which was adopted two years ago, and suggests that a year's consideration before final action might have been wise.

The move, he says, has "virtually killed drop and place kicking," while the damage of injury continues with the upholders might have been eliminated by a new type of goal posts, the posts themselves to be set back a few yards, with the cross bar projected at the proper height above the goal line.

HUNTER PLAYS VEN RYN IN MASON-DIXON MEET

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 19.—Francis T. Hunter, Johnny Hennessey, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, all members of the first six ranking tennis players in the United States, met today in the semifinals of the Mason and Dixon championship singles lawn tennis tournament. Hunter defeated Van Ryn and Hennessey with ease.

The move, he says, has "virtually killed drop and place kicking," while the damage of injury continues with the upholders might have been eliminated by a new type of goal posts, the posts themselves to be set back a few yards, with the cross bar projected at the proper height above the goal line.

has been elected captain of the Princeton swimming team for next season.

Both men have shown well this season. Bickel has in his two events in meets with Missouri and Rolla. Glazer was in the shotput at the annual Valentine indoor meet last month, and in this event against both the Missouri and Rolla.

Carl Weber won his right to compete in the games by taking three first places in the meet with Rolla on Tuesday. Although he showed great form in winning both of his three races, he will be entered in the high jump.

WEAKENED AND DRAWN MAKING 112 POUNDS FOR BOUT AT PARIS

The Associated Press.

PARIS, April 19.—Emile (Spud) Pladner, regarded in some quarters as the uncrowned flyweight champion of the world, has turned his back on the 112-pounder with a defeat for his closing bout.

Pladner, one of the hardest pushers in French ring history, lost on a foul in the seventh round of his 15-round match with

Frankie Genaro of New York here yesterday in what he himself termed his final appearance as a flyweight. The Frenchman in a previous bout had knocked out

Genaro, National Boxing Association champion, in a round;

outpointed Izzy Schwartz, New York

State Boxing Commission nominee for the title, and stopped Johnny

Hill, European 112-pound title-holder.

Pladner was leading on points in his return bout with Genaro

when he struck the New Yorker

low twice and was disqualified.

Genaro had taken the first round and Pladner clearly had the edge in all the others. But the "Spud" looked drawn and pale as a result of his strenuous and successful efforts to make the fly-weight limit. He said before the fight that he had had enough of this continual battle with old man

Genaro and would campaign hereafter as a bantamweight.

Carl Weber won his right to compete in the games by taking three first places in the meet with Rolla on Tuesday. Although he showed great form in winning both of his three races he will be entered in the high jump.

He said before the fight that he had had enough of this continual battle with old man Genaro and would campaign hereafter as a bantamweight.

Golf Experts Fascinated

With Horton Smith's Style

All the experts are analyzing Horton Smith's golf. Fascinated by the perfect rhythm of the Joplin boy's swing, some of the scrib-lers have gone into ecstasies in describing some of his shots. Following is an example of what New York writers had to say about the Missouri after he had played an exhibition round just prior to leaving with the Ryder Cup team.

It was a well-satisfied lot that left Cherry Valley upon the completion of the play. They felt they had seen a golfer worth while; watched a man who could show them the need to mechanical perfection in the way of golf stroking that the world has ever known. The way the tall, slender youngster hammered

the ball straight and far down the soft, gently fairways was a sight that tickled the cockles of their hearts.

There's something about young

Horton Smith that fills the watcher with admiration for his game. It is the remarkable readiness of his swing, as pure and underlined a thing as can be seen. There's nothing pretentious about it. It has, one feet, fewer eccentricities than any other swing. It's slow back, steady down and onward in a follow through always complete whether he is playing a full or short pitch.

A distinctive style.

Second Choice for Kentucky Derby

CLYDE VAN DUSEN.

Clyde Van Dusen, Winner Of Fairmount Stake, One Of Favorites for Derby

This is the first of a series of articles to acquaint reader with the records of probable starters in the annual Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, May 18. Others will appear in the Post-Dispatch from time to time.

No. 1—Clyde Van Dusen.

Kentuckians are hailing Clyde Van Dusen as the winner of the Kentucky Derby, May 18. They will do that whenever he comes to the Churchill Downs classic received his development in the Blue Grass.

Clyde Van Dusen, named for the former jockey, now his trainer, will do that whenever he comes to the Churchill Downs classic received his development in the dash, hurdles and broad jump.

Browning, who throws the jump around 165 feet, is one of the best in the conference. The Dragons have two star pole vaulters, Horner and Marrs, who average 12 feet.

At present, Don Parker of Cleveland, O., is a very likely prospect in the 440-yard run. Cook of Booneville, Iowa, looks like a sure point-winner in the mile. Beasley of Tulsa, shows promise in the hurdles. But so far no outstanding dash man has been developed.

But in the field events Wentworth is very strong. Mead, all-round athlete and holder of the school record in the shot put, is most certain to win firsts at the spring's championship meet and was lost by graduation. It will be Coach Muench's big problem to develop sprinters who can place in the dashes, the hurdles, and the middle distances.

At present, Don Parker of Cleveland, O., is a very likely prospect in the 440-yard run. Cook of Booneville, Iowa, looks like a sure point-winner in the mile. Beasley of Tulsa, shows promise in the hurdles. But so far no outstanding dash man has been developed.

PLANNING MENUS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Expend Thought on Arranging Balanced Meals for the Family Table.

The number of fresh fruits and vegetables available is steadily increasing and the planning of meals is becoming correspondingly easier as regards variety.

Appetites can generally be stimulated by serving the crisp, young, raw radishes, spring onions, cucumbers and baby carrots in addition to the celery and lettuce that we have been serving right along.

The right time to have a hearty breakfast on Monday may be either the second time that you have stewed at home, or the canned figs that come ready to use. The appearance and flavor of the two will be quite different, but both are very good and, because of their laxative quality, make an excellent breakfast fruit.

Use stewed, dried apricots this week to make a charlotte that is served for dessert on Friday night, and to use as dessert on Saturday.
As the plain stewed fruit is made into a puree for the charlotte, enough can be cooked at one time for the two meals.

Vegetables have been mainly used for lunches all week and a vegetable dinner is planned for Tuesday with the exception of the lamb broth. A cream of pea soup, or any vegetable with the exception of tomatoes could very readily be substituted for the lamb if desired.

The tomatoes served that night will be sautéed with corn, breadcrumbs and eggs.

The peach tarts that are used for dessert are made by baking good pastry over inverted tart pans, then cooling them and filling with a half of a drained canned peach. The peach may be covered with a meringue, or garnished with a small spoon of whipped cream.

HOT BISCUITS MADE WITH VARIATIONS

Nuts, Cheese, Fruit and Spice Can Be Added for Variety.

A hostess of my acquaintance has gained a considerable reputation for the unusual and delicious hot breads she serves. She has gathered together a large collection of recipes for these and, wherever she goes, is always on the lookout for new kinds to add to it.

Most tea rooms make a specialty of at least one kind of hot bread, and many restaurants where the afternoon tea hour is popular specialize in fancy sandwich breads or small rolls, muffins or buns that have some individuality.

Practically every meal in the day is helped itself to the use of some kind of hot bread, but the fancy types are best reserved for luncheons or afternoon teas. Once you become interested in the subject, it is astonishing how many variations will occur to you, and the fascinating flavor combinations and methods of serving that can be developed.

Take plain baking powder biscuits, for instance. Once you have mastered the art of making a fluffy, tender biscuit of this type, you can vary it by adding finely chopped nuts, spice, chopped candied ginger, grated cheese, cocoa, chopped candied or dried fruit, etc.
They may be cut into any number of small fancy shapes by the use of the many cutters on the market, or they may be rolled up like a jelly roll and cut down in slices, or baked in tiny patty cake pans that have been buttered and spread with honey or sprinkled with brown sugar and chopped nuts.

Ginger biscuits are one of the very nicest kinds of hot bread to serve with a fruit salad, or with a salad made of preserved figs that are stuffed with cream cheese.

To make them, sift two cups of flour with four teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt and one teaspoon of sugar. Rub in three tablespoons of butter or vegetable shortening and one-half cup of chopped, crystallized ginger.
Mix to a soft dough with three-fourths cup of milk and turn out on a floured board.

Pat to a scant half inch thickness, shape with a very small cutter and bake on a buttered pan in a hot oven for 10 to 12 minutes. If you are not fond of ginger, substitute chopped, candied orange rind, or equal parts of orange rind and citron for the ginger.

Cheese biscuits may be made from the same recipe by omitting the sugar and using one-third cup of grated cheese instead of the ginger. These are nice if they are made a day ahead of time, and split and toasted before serving;
they are an excellent accompaniment to a vegetable or plain green salad and an appetizing addition to the afternoon tea table.

If you would like recipes for some other kinds of rather unusual hot breads, write me inclosing a stamp for reply.

PINK AND GREEN CHEESE

Varied Colored Fillings Add a Modernistic Note to the Table.

Cut four slices bread lengthwise of loaf and spread with creamed butter. Add cream to part of cream cheese to make it pink and green coloring to rest.

Spread first layer with green cheese, add another slice of bread, spread with pink cheese, cover with another slice of bread, spread with green cheese and put on last slice of bread. Place under light weight and press until serving time. Cut in thin slices and garnish with green leaves.

The pink and green cheese may also be used on finger-shaped sandwiches, garnished with tiny leaves of green cheese and roses or pink cheese, put on with pastry tube. Or the cheese may be forced through a pastry bag down the center of a strip of buttered toast.

Garnish edges with strips of dates, finely chopped nuts, chopped olives or chopped Canton ginger and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

MAKE A SALMON LOAF

Canned Salmon Served This Way
Is a Hearty Meal.

Remove the skin and bones from one large can of salmon and flake the fish. Mix lightly with three cups of boiled rice, two tablespoons of lemon juice, one cup of soft breadcrumbs, one-half teaspoon of grated lemon rind, two tablespoons of minced parsley, one teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper to season, and one beaten egg.

Pack in a buttered bread pan and bake in a moderate oven for about 40 minutes. Turn out on a hot platter and serve with plenty of parsley or mushroom sauce.

DAINTY CIRCLE SALAD

It Serves As a Combined Salad and Dessert Course.

Arrange lettuce leaves on individual salad plates. Sprinkle grated coconut around the edge of the lettuce "cups."

Slice oranges very thin and place slices in a circle on the coconut.

Arrange thin slices of banana around the center, sprinkle over with lemon juice and heap coconut in the center. Garnish with fresh strawberries.

Serve with boiled dressing to which has been added whipped cream.

One famous expert on nutrition has this to say: "Steadily increasing weight, firm flesh, good bones (none of the bowed legs or ribs that characterize rickets) are the marks of that character."

"For the promotion of growth, good bones, strong teeth, the child's diet must supply Calcium and Vitamin A. 'Philadelphia' Cream Cheese is an excellent source of both elements."

Besides, it is a fine dairy product, made with greater care because of the knowledge that it is being used as a special food for children. It is never sold in bulk.

FIVE O'CLOCK TEA IS A NICE CUSTOM

A Delicious Cup of Hot or Iced Tea is a Real Treat.

Five o'clock, when lunch is far behind and dinner yet to come, is perhaps the pleasantest time of the day for light refreshment.

The tea table, covered with linen as exquisite as one desires, should be ready to receive the tea things in the room where guests are to be entertained.

The accompaniments to afternoon tea are as varied as the range of personal taste; these may include hot breads and elaborate sandwiches, layer cakes and all kinds of delicate pastries, or simply toast and marmalade.

With the tea itself one is usually offered the choice of "cream or lemon." Three or four whole cloves stuck into each lemon slice add a spicy pliancy to the tea.

Other delicious flavors are found in orange marmalade, or candied ginger, rose petals, or mint leaves.

To brew the finest tea, the pot should be heated by filling with boiling water and emptying before using. Put the fresh tea leaves into this warm teapot allowing one level teaspoon of tea for each cup.

Pour on freshly boiling water. If the water is below the boiling point it will not draw out the essential oil which gives the tea its delicate flavor. Water that has boiled for some time tastes flat and insipid.

Never allow the tea itself to boil, for that extracts the tannin which is a deleterious element. (Teapots should never be placed over the flame.) Let the tea stand three to five minutes until the desired strength is reached, and serve.

French Fried Liver.

Soak one pound calves' liver in salt water one-half hour. Scald with boiling water. Drain and cut in three-inch strips. Moisten with French dressing and let stand one hour. Drain. Dry and fry in deep hot fat three to five minutes. Drain on unglazed paper. Garnish with crisp bacon and serve hot.

A Thought for the Day.

It must be remembered that cheese is made up of the solid components found in milk, chiefly the proteins, fats and the mineral salts. Protein is a muscle and tissue builder and also furnishes large amounts of energy.

"More Real flavor" CLEVER COOKS TELL YOU

"has the true flavor of real mayonnaise"

"THE first time I tasted Hellmann's, I knew I had found the salad dressing I was searching for. It had the true mayonnaise flavor that makes any sort of a salad—vegetable, fish, meat or fruit—a delight to serve. Right away I could tell that Hellmann's contains fine eggs and oil, it's so rich and delicious."—Gunhild Peterson Gunhild Peterson, whose cooking is the delight of guests of Mrs. Price Post (Emily Post), New York City.

To read them is to realize at once how utterly different this bread is from ordinary kinds.

So try a loaf today. But first please note these additional advantages.

For toast it knows no equal. And eaten plain it amazes with its delicate flavor.

It's splendid, too, from the housekeeper's point of view. It slices without crumbling. And keeps its freshness for days. If eaten daily, it promotes family health to a marked degree. It restores burned-up energy and fosters growth. This because of its high caloric value. Also its remarkable protein content.

To maintain its remarkable quality day after day, we go to great lengths. We specify a specially milled short patent flour. The heart of the wheat berry.

START THE DAY WITH A COLORFUL MEAL

Breakfasts Can Be Dreary Affairs or Else Cheerful Ones.

The craze for color in clothing, house furnishings and practically all phases of present-day living has certainly made things much more cheerful to look at. What then could be more appropriate than to make use of this same psychological factor in giving the day a cheerful beginning? Breakfasts can be such dreary, colorless affairs, and then can also be bright and colorful ones.

The breakfast table sets the tone for the day, or for the morning at least. Some people are born optimists and can overcome with a cheerful spirit the obstacle of a dull breakfast, but the majority of us need some sort of encouragement to give us a good beginning.

In planning a breakfast menu the color of food should be kept in mind. The new colored tablecloths or the squares of bright colored oilcloth that fit so nicely into the informality of a breakfast nook, should certainly be made use of for this meal, for they can do a great deal to make the meal attractive and to stimulate sluggish appetites. The inexpensive, gay flowered china, and the colored glass that is so much in vogue also make their use on the breakfast table.

Use a bowl of fruit, a few flowers or a bit of green for decorative purposes. Don't let yourself fall into the state of mind thinking that anything will do for breakfast because it is a meal that is so quickly eaten. Part of the dislike that many people have for the first meal of the day is often due to the fact that it is the least attractive of the three.

It is important, in planning the breakfast menu, to keep the color and texture of foods in mind. Some foods can be very drab, and combinations entirely uninteresting while others arouse appetites simply by their appearance. The more cheerless the morning and gray the day, the brighter should be the breakfast.

For a spring morning what could be better than pink rhubarb in clear green glass bowls, followed by a cereal, a puffy yellow omelet and golden brown toast? The table might appropriately have a soft green or a daffodil yellow cloth. Sliced oranges, hot wheat cereal with dates and crisp bacon with sauted tomatoes and green watercress offer another attractive and colorful breakfast menu.

Even if your meal is limited to fruit, toast and coffee you can make it taste doubly good by the choice of colorful glass, china and table coverings.

How easily it slices.

BAKED SOUP NO DIFFERENT
Although a New Idea, the Baked Article Tastes the Same.

How many of our readers bake their soup? At first thought baking soup appears to be perfectly silly and quite opposed to the basic idea of a very appetizing and necessary article of food. However, modern cooks experts have tried out baked soup and they say certain types of soup may be baked with success.

This recipe for clear tomato soup calls for the soup to be baked in the oven instead of boiled on top of the stove.

Take one quart tomatoes, one slice onion, tiny piece of bayleaf, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two tablespoons brown sugar, four tablespoons tapioca, one-fourth teaspoon thyme, one-fourth teaspoon marjoram.

Put tomatoes and seasonings into saucepan, let come to a boil, cover and boil gently 10 minutes. Force through sieve; add one cup water with salt, sugar and tapioca.

Place in covered vessel and bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

FASCINATING DISHES FROM LEFTOVER LAMB

Second-Day Dishes Are Generally Very Easily Planned and Prepared.

The season for lamb being upon us, it is reasonable to suppose that leftovers will remain from the Sunday lamb roast.

Utilizing leftovers in an appetizing and attractive way is one of the most difficult tasks that confront the housewife and meat leftovers from the Sunday dinner always offer a problem.

Often the housewife finds herself in such a dilemma she can turn to comfort to these recipes for making second-day dishes with the cooked lamb that remains from the Sunday roast.

Lamb Pie.

Take a quart of cooked lamb and cut it in very small pieces. Cut one large potato, one onion and two ounces of bacon and cook them in a frying pan until the vegetables are a light brown, then stir in the meat.

Have ready a pint of cooked rice and line a deep baking dish with it. Put in the meat and pour over it a sauce made with a pint of stock thickened with a tablespoon of flour and of butter. Season with salt and pepper to taste and any sweet herbs that may please the taste. Add a thin layer of rice over the top of meat and then a cup of cooked tomatoes.

Cover with a topping of pie or biscuit dough. Bake in oven and serve from the dish in which the pie was cooked.

Lamb Cakes and Peas.

Put about one and one-half pounds of lamb through the food chopper twice. Season with salt and pepper and one-fourth teaspoonful of summer savory, one egg roll, well beaten, and two tablespoonfuls of cream. Mix well and make into oblong cakes. Dredge with flour which has a little paprika in it and brown the cakes in a hot pan, using a little butter as possible.

Put the meat in the oven to finish cooking while fixing the garnish of creamed peas.

Lamb Croquettes.

Put lamb through meat grinder. Add parsley and hot white sauce and mix well. Season more if necessary. Chill. Form into croquettes. Roll in crumbs, dip in slightly beaten egg diluted with water, and roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat about five minutes. Drain on unglazed paper.

FROZEN TAPIOCA CREAM

APPEALS TO THE FAMILY
Tapioca Should Be Used More Generally in the Daily Menus.

Frozen tapioca cream is an intriguing dessert suitable to serve at the most formal dinner party or at the family company dinner. It belongs to the frozen pudding family and is made according to this recipe.

Take one quart milk, one-third cup tapioca, one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one egg, one teaspoon flavoring extract of any preferred flavor.

Scald milk in double boiler. Add minute tapioca, sugar and salt and cook 15 minutes, stirring frequently.

Pour small amount of mixture slowly over slightly beaten egg yolk, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture begins to thicken like custard.

Remove from heat and add vanilla, orange or any flavoring desired. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg white. Chill.

Serve in sherbet glasses and garnish with whipped cream and a few berries or pieces of fruit. This pudding may be frozen in a refrigerator.

TASTY SPAGHETTI DISH

Combined With Chicken Livers in a New Way.

Housekeepers always welcome new or different recipes for preparing spaghetti. Combine with chicken livers for a change and see what a tasty dish it makes.

Take one-fourth pound spaghetti, one-half onion, one-half cup tomatoes, one-half cup meat stock, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-sixteenth teaspoon pepper, one-half tablespoon butter, one-half cup chicken livers, one tablespoon butter and one-half cup cheese.

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water till tender. Mince onion; cook gently with tomatoes, stock, salt and pepper for five minutes; add one-half tablespoon butter. Sauté chicken livers in one tablespoon butter until tender. Drain spaghetti, place in serving dish; add sauce and sautéed livers. Serve with Parmesan cheese sprinkled on top.

Worth Remembering.

In cooking for milk for cream pies or cream souffles, the water for raisin pies, pudding, sauce, etc., where sugar and flour, or sugar and corn starch is used, mix thoroughly when dry. Then add to boiling water or milk. If the sugar and flour is well mixed there will be no lumps.

Escalloped Apples.

Prepare apples in the usual way for stewing, place in a pie dish with sugar to taste, and the strained juice of a lemon. Cover the top with fine stale bread-crumb moistened with a little water and dot the top with small pieces of butter. Bake until the fruit is soft and the crumbs on top nicely browned. Serve with a hot sauce made with brown sugar and water or a hard sauce.

PORK CHOPS BAKE NICELY

Although Few Housewives Prepare This in This Way.

While pork chops are among the most popular of our meat products, most housewives pan fry them. It is a mistake to always fry pork chops for they make a toothsome baked dish.

To bake pork chops take six chops cut about one-half an inch thick, two tablespoons drippings, four tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups water, a tiny piece of sage, one teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon pepper.

Put fat in frying pan; dredge chops with flour, and when fat is hot but not smoking, sauté meat to a golden color. Place in oven or baking dish. Cook remaining flour with fat in pan, add water, sage and seasonings; let boil five minutes. Turn over chops, put on cover and bake in a moderate oven one hour.

Fastest working form of Soap

That's why Super Suds has displaced Chips and Flakes. See test below

In every third home...in just one year!* That is the remarkable record of Super Suds, the new soap discovery.

Super Suds is not a chip, not a powder, but soap in wholly new form...tiny, hollow beads with walls so thin they burst into suds instantly when water touches them. Four times as thin as the thinnest chip, Super Suds is the thinnest soap made. This explains its swifter action.

The moment Super Suds touches water, not only instant top suds form, but rich, soapy under-water suds as well. This instant under-water soap solution brings quick results in dishwashing...in laundry...wherever Super Suds is used. It gives you super cleansing power.

Super Suds rinses as quickly and completely as it forms suds. Cloths are snowy white, fresh, ready for the line with one less rinsing water. Dishwashing is really unnecessary with this new improved form

*This estimate is based on 212,960 answers given by housewives in a recent investigation in leading cities.

Make test shown here

Demonstrate to yourself how rapidly and completely Super Suds dissolves

In one glass put a teaspoonful of Super Suds. In another a teaspoonful of any chip or flake. Now fill both glasses half full of water of dishwashing temperature. Instantly every bit of Super Suds dissolves, sending thick suds to every part of the water. The chips or flakes, on the other hand, yield suds but slowly. Undissolved bits of soap remain long after every particle of Super Suds has become suds.

COOKING FOR TWO IS A FASCINATING ART

Almost All Recipes May Be Divided to Serve This Purpose.

One of the greatest difficulties that new housekeepers experience is that of finding recipes that will serve for two. There are a few cook books on the market that are written with the small, family in view, but the average recipe is designed to serve about six people, and usually this is taken for granted, unless the recipe states otherwise.

A great many of the standard recipes can be readily divided and smaller amounts so made.

If a recipe serves six, as given in the standard cook book, it is a pretty safe plan to divide it in half and make three good servings. The extra one is generally used, or if there is any left over it may serve for next day's lunch or can perhaps be utilized in the making of a salad or some one of the many attractive entrees that can be made from left-overs.

In dividing a recipe, care must be taken to measure accurately. Perhaps the best way of showing this is to use an example. For instance, you find a recipe for a salmon souffle written as follows:

Original Recipe.
One large can salmon, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, two teaspoons lemon juice, three-fourths cup breadcrumbs, one-half cup milk, three egg yolks, three egg whites.

Divided Recipe.

One small can salmon, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon lemon juice, one-third cup breadcrumbs, one-fourth cup milk, two egg yolks, two egg whites.

It is often confusing in dividing a recipe for the new housekeeper to know what to do with an odd number of eggs. In most cases, if one egg is called for in the original recipe, one egg can be used in the divided one, and one tablespoon less of liquid used. In the recipe thus given, you will note that I have used two eggs in the divided recipe and made up for the difference by using a little larger amount of breadcrumbs.

Each beaten egg makes on the average four tablespoons of liquid. In effect, dividing the total amount of additional egg used by using two eggs instead of one and one-half, or any similar division simply makes a richer product.

When fractions occur in the amount of flour, baking powder, shortening or liquid used, measurements should be as accurate as possible to insure good results. This may seem confusing at first, but a very little practice will give you considerable experience.

MAKE A BEEFSTEAK PIE

Although Appealing, Few American Cooks Make This Dish.

Beefsteak pie is a favorite dish in England where it is served on the family table as well as at all the restaurants and hotels.

It is a tempting dish when made according to this recipe.

Take two pounds of round steak or meat off the top or bottom of any beef steak cut, four tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour, eight cups water, six small carrots, six small onions, six small potatoes, three turnips, one cup celery and one tablespoon salt.

Put butter or butterine in frying pan. Roll meat in flour, brown in fat. Then place water in large kettle and add meat after it has been seared. Bring to boil and let boil gently 40 minutes. Add prepared vegetables and salt; let boil gently for one hour longer. Turn into large casserole, cover with baking powder biscuits and bake 20 minutes in hot oven.

Housekeeping Helps.
Before heating milk in a saucepan, rinse the pan with water and it will not scorch so easily.

To freshen shredded cocoanut, soak it in sweet milk a few moments before using.

When cake or bread is too brown or is burnt, grate with a nutmeg grater until it is a golden brown.

Sugar for fried cakes should be dissolved in the milk to prevent cakes from absorbing the grease while frying.

A few whole cloves in the kettle when giving doughnuts a nice flavor.

In making fruit cake, pour half the batter in the pan before adding the fruit, then the fruit will not settle at the bottom of cake.

Cutting bread lengthwise instead of across saves you about two-thirds of the waste—especially when sandwiches are to be cut in fancy shapes.

When making egg custard pies, always heat the milk to the boiling point before mixing with the eggs. If this rule is followed, the under-crust will be crisp.

When filling gem pans, leave one of the small sections empty and fill with water—the gems will never scorch.

When making fruit pies, put in the sugar when the dish is half full instead of on top—the pastry will be lighter.

Old-Fashioned Pudding.

Pour four cups scalded milk over one-fourth cup cornmeal and cook in a double boiler 20 minutes, add one-half cup molasses, one tablespoonful butter or chopped suet, one teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful either ground ginger or cinnamon, one-half cup seeded raisins, and one pint cold milk into which has been beaten the yolks of two eggs. Pour into a greased dish. Bake slowly two hours. It should have considerable whey when baked—this whey is used as a sauce when serving the pudding, which may be eaten hot or cold.

EMERGENCY DISHES MADE WITH EGGS

Readily Prepared When Unexpected Guests Arrive for Luncheon.

Housewives are prone to forget what delicious main dishes are fashioned out of eggs. Omelets, creamed eggs and deviled eggs are fairly familiar to most cooks, but baked creole eggs and anchovy eggs are probably little more than a name.

Both dishes are easily made and both are very tasty and tempting.

For baked creole eggs take one cup tomatoes, one small onion, a tiny piece of bay leaf, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon brown sugar, one-half tablespoon flour, four eggs and four tablespoons grated cheese.

In heavy frying pan make sauce by cooking first six ingredients over slow fire 15 minutes. Stir in creamed butter and flour. Remove from fire and into sauce add each egg carefully from a saucer. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in a moderate oven, uncovered, for 15 minutes.

Anchovy eggs are made after this recipe: Bolt three eggs until hard. Cool, remove shells and

EMERGENCY DISHES MADE WITH EGGS

Homewives are prone to forget what delicious main dishes are fashioned out of eggs. Omelets, creamed eggs and deviled eggs are fairly familiar to most cooks, but baked creole eggs and anchovy eggs are probably little more than a name.

Both dishes are easily made and both are very tasty and tempting. For baked creole eggs take one cup tomatoes, one small onion, a tiny piece of bay leaf, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon brown sugar, one tablespoon butter, one and one-half tablespoons flour, four eggs and four tablespoons grated cheese.

In heavy frying pan make sauce by cooking first six ingredients over slow fire 15 minutes. Stir in creamed butter and flour. Remove from fire and into sauce slide each egg carefully from a saucer. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in a moderate oven, uncovered, for 15 minutes.

Anchovy eggs are made after this recipe: Boil three eggs until hard. Cool, remove shells and slice in halves lengthwise. Remove the yolks and mash, adding three teaspoons of finely chopped olives, one and one-half teaspoons minced parsley and sufficient mayonnaise to make a smooth paste. Stuff the egg white with this mixture and place one-half an egg on a thin slice of hot buttered toast, spread sparingly with anchovy paste. Top with a teaspoon of whipped cream and dust with paprika.

Soft-Shell Crabs. Remove the eyes and the stomach (the soft portion under the eyes) if this has not already been done. Wash and dry the crabs. Dip in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. To one egg add two tablespoons water and beat slightly. Dip crabs in egg, then in fine, sifted bread crumbs and fry in deep hot fat five to eight minutes. Drain on unglazed paper. Serve with parsley and slices of lemon.

teaspoonfuls baking powder, and one-half cup broken nut meats if desired. Beat well and just before turning the batter into greased and floured loaf pan, add one teaspoonful baking soda dissolved in two tablespoonsfuls hot water. Bake this cake in a moderate oven for about 40 minutes. Dried apples, apricots, prunes, dates or figs may be used instead of the raisins cut up very fine or grated and bake the same as an omelet.

teaspoonfuls water, two cups flour, two cups sugar, two-thirds cup shortening, one cup raisins, two teaspoons cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful nutmeg, one teaspoonful cloves and one teaspoon salt for three minutes. Pour into a large mold and cool to slightly above room temperature. Then sift in three cups flour, one cup cornmeal and two weeks.

CHEESE SOUFFLE.

One cup soft, stale bread crumbs, one tablespoonful butter, one-half teaspoonful salt. Scald one cup milk (skimmed milk will do), put hot milk and butter over bread crumbs. Beat two eggs separately, very light, put in yolks, then the whites, and add one fourth pound of American cheese cut up very fine or grated and bake the same as an omelet.

SALAD DRESSINGS AND SUGGESTIONS

They Are Tempting and Will Give Your Salads a Wonderful Variety.

Add equal parts of sweet cream (preferably whipped) and prepared mustard to your mayonnaise, when making fruit salads. You may also want to add a bit of sugar. The results are surprising and different. Did you know that you may use one tablespoon prepared mustard in place of one teaspoon dry mustard when making your own oil dressing?

Before leaving the subject of salad making, we want to emphasize again the necessity of serving them in an attractive and appetizing manner. Make sure the lettuce is fresh and crisp, and that it is neatly arranged on the salad plate. When making cabbage salad, shred the cabbage and let it stand in ice cold salted water for about half an hour before making the salad. Cooked vegetables should be cooked well and thoroughly chilled before using.

Both cooked and fresh fruits and vegetables should be very well dressed before adding to the salad dressing. A "soupy" salad is neither tasty nor attractive.

When serving jellied salads make sure they have entirely "set" in attractive individual moulds, or slice them neatly. I like to serve the salad dressing separately. Fruit salads may be served in grapefruit or orange cases, and the whipped cream dressing piled high on top forming a successful salad.

MISCELLANEOUS RECIPES

Frosted Sponge Cup Cakes.

Cook two cups grated pineapple and one cup sugar until thick and set aside to cool. Soak one-half envelope Gelatine in one-fourth cup cold water 10 minutes and let stand over boiling water until dissolved. When cool, add to one cup stiffly whipped cream, and beat into the pineapple. Cut off the top of individual sponge or cup cakes, hollow out the center and fill with above paste. Replace top of cake and cover whole of cake with frosting. Decorate with pieces of pineapple and figs. If desired, any fresh or canned fruit may be used in place of the pineapple for making the paste.

Molded Cereal With Fruit.

Take cereal that has been left over—if very stiff, place in a double boiler, add a little hot milk or water, and stir in a few scalloped dates, figs or prunes. Mold in a dish and serve cold as a dessert with cream and sugar.

Banana and Celery Salad.

Stuff clean celery sticks with peanut butter and cut into small pieces. Arrange on beds of lettuce with bananas, sliced or diced. Serve with dressing. Whipped cream may be added to the dressing if desired.

Shirred Eggs.

Take thick slices of stale bread about three inches square, cut off corners and take out the center (using waste bread to roll and dry for other things). Toast nice and brown in the oven. Before taking out of oven, drop a whole egg in and cook for a few minutes.

Ham-Cheese Pie.

Place slices of ham in pie-pan, sprinkle with crumbled cheese. Repeat this, alternating layers of ham and cheese until ham is used up. Place in hot oven long enough to heat through and melt cheese—nicely browned. Serve with a like pie. Extremely good served with baked potatoes.

Our Constantly Changing Needs

Many persons are looking for different houses, apartments or flats, some are seeking rooms, some are desirous of securing dependable and capable home help, some are planning arrangements that will mean selling or exchanging part of their household goods. Such are a few of the home changes that come with the changing season.

ADAPTABILITY OF CHEESE

Good for Luncheon, Dinner, Supper or Between Meal Bite. Cheese is a particularly valuable food to the system when served with vegetables, salads, fruits and coarse breads, like bran bread, whole wheat bread, graham bread, etc.

Baked beans turned into a dish, covered with strips of bacon and left in a moderate oven until the bacon curls will delight many who scorn canned foods.

Corn combined with milk and eggs and bits of pimento or green peppers loses all trace of its original baked in transparent overture.

RULES FOR DEEP FAT FRYING

Success of Finished Product Depends on Their Observance.

Do not attempt to cook too much food in the fat at one time.

When food is cooked remove it immediately and drain on unglazed paper to absorb any excess fat.

Be sure that all food to be fried, which has been previously washed or soaked in cold water, is thoroughly dried.

When testing the temperature of hot fat with a thermometer, hold it in the center of the kettle so that the mercury bulb is covered but does not touch the bottom.

Asparagus Suggestions.

Fresh asparagus makes tempting salads, added or whole tips may be used in vegetable cocktails.

The stalks and water in which asparagus cooks should always be saved, as it makes delicious soups.

DRESS UP CANNED FOODS

The Possibilities Are Infinite if the Cook Is Interested.

The woman who gives thought to preparing attractive foods can do wonders with the contents of a tin can.

Baked beans turned into a dish, covered with strips of bacon and left in a moderate oven until the bacon curls will delight many who scorn canned foods.

Corn combined with milk and eggs and bits of pimento or green peppers loses all trace of its original baked in transparent overture.

Keep a supply of cheese on your pantry shelf where it is always available for emergencies for luncheons, for "between meal" snacks for the kiddies, for a late bite in the evening after the theater.

A VEGETABLE ECONOMY

In the cooking of vegetables, it is often a good plan to cook enough for two meals at a time, and use the extra for salad, or to serve hot with some well-flavored sauce to give variety at another meal.

Vegetable fritters, souffles and escallops all offer further possibilities in serving the same vegetable in a different guise for another meal.

INSURANCE STOCK
BILL ADOPTED BY MISSOURI SENATE

Measure Allows Risk Companies to Invest Their Capital in Concerns Proven to Be Sound.

PROPOSAL FOUGHT
BY ST. LOUISAN

Senator Bates Declares This Practice Might Tend to Cause Speculation With Funds.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—Missouri insurance companies after a two-year effort obtained passage in the Senate yesterday of a bill permitting them to invest their capital stock, reserves and surplus in the stocks of any solvent corporation which has paid dividends at least 4 per cent for five years preceding the purchase. The only exceptions were the stocks of oil, mining and exploitation companies.

Senator Bates of St. Louis made a determined fight against the bill which was introduced by Senator Denney of Lebanon, and which was advocated principally by the Missouri State Life and the Kansas City Life companies, insisting that stocks did not constitute a safe investment for insurance company funds.

Until 1927 investments of Missouri insurance companies had been limited by law to loans on real estate and to Government, State, county and municipal bonds. Under the leadership of the Missouri State Life a majority of the Missouri companies that year asked the Legislature to permit investment in the bonds and stocks of private corporations.

Owing to the extent of the opposition the companies agreed to an amendment to the then pending bill to exclude stocks and bonds of private corporations. This year they returned with a request that they be permitted to invest in stocks.

The argument was that the big eastern insurance companies were permitted by the laws of their states to invest in stocks, and that Missouri companies were placed at a disadvantage, frequently being compelled to buy less desirable securities than they could have obtained, if permitted the stock investments.

In the main the interest of the companies lay in the fact that the earnings of many stocks on the market were far in excess of the earnings of bonds.

Bates objected to the bill on the grounds that there was a lack of stability of stock values, and that stocks could decrease in value over night to a point which would endanger a company having heavy investments. He argued also that there was a chance for speculation by insurance company officials in the stocks of corporations in which they had financial interest.

The bill was passed by a margin of one vote, 19 to 18. Eighteen votes were needed for passage. The bill now goes to the House.

U. S. TRADE OPPORTUNITIES
STRESSED AT CONVENTIONSpeaker Asserts American Business Is More Welcome in China Than Before.

BALTIMORE, April 19.—Opportunities for trade in Canada, Latin-America and the Far East, at markets in which St. Louis manufacturers have an active interest, were discussed in the second day's program of the National Foreign Trade convention yesterday. Lynn M. Meekin, American commercial attaché at Ottawa, pointed out the remarkable progress made by Canada and her present prosperous condition. Between 1925 and 1928, he said, annual production increased $1,000,000,000, or 25 per cent.

Declaring that American business is more welcome in China than ever before, M. J. Falkenburg, president of a Seattle trading company, advised that America's trade policy in the Far East be one of co-operative assistance and not exploitation. He quoted Commerce Department figures indicating that our trade with the Orient is increasing at the rate of $50,000,000 annually and stated that conditions are the best they have ever been for our trade. Each year witness a growing understanding of economic interdependence between the Americas, Lawrence L. Daws, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, told the delegates today. Latin-American countries, he said, now provide the United States with markets for nearly $1,000,000,000 worth of products annually.

Night Watchmen Observe Aurora and Expedition Gets in Touch With Greenland Station to Compare Polar Phenomena.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, April 18. (By Wireless).—The sun disappeared from Commander Byrd's camp today.

Yesterday it crawled along the horizon formed by the Barrier to the north, a round ball of dull fire, as if seen through a thin haze, and slid slowly out of sight. Today the upper part of it might have appeared again, but there were clouds in the northern sky and only a red spot crept slowly westward, grew fainter and went away leaving a chill sunset.

It may be visible a day or two more from the Barrier top or the bare ice, but it will be next August before it shines again on our little hollow.

It has left a long twilight, an eerie gray light which almost imperceptibly fades into night and this light will be with us in the middle of the day for some time.

Sunset Is In the North.

"And it is curious that our sunset is in the north now and that in the south, where the golden rays used to light the rolling Barrier surface, is the grim black line of approaching night.

With the going of the sun the cold had increased and last night it was again 40 degrees below zero, a clear night with the aurora australis blazing overhead.

The magnificent and mysterious glow palpitating as if alive, sending its shivering curtains and streamers across the sky, is an occurrence on almost every night and night watchman has been appointed to it. The watchman makes his headquarters at the entrance of the large house.

PRINCE OF WALES MEETS RADICAL LABOR LEADERBritish Heir Praised at Luncheon for Work in Campaign to Aid Miners.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 19.—The Prince of Wales and A. J. Cook, radical labor leader and a prime mover in the general strike of 1926, met at a luncheon given in the mansion house to the chief workers for the fund for relief of distress in the coal fields. The Prince thanked all contributors "small and great, in the dominions and in America; one might also say throughout the world."

"You, sir," said Cook, speaking directly across the table to the Prince, "have done a marvelous thing. Christmas night I was with two communist friends who scoffed at your name and asked me to speak on behalf of the miners' fund, and then listened to what you had to say and when you finished there were tears in their eyes. They put their hands in their pockets and gave what money they had on them to the fund. It was a wonderful appeal to the country that night."

After the luncheon the Prince and the secretary of the miners' federation chatted for some time in the most good-humored manner. The bill now goes to the House.

CITY WATERWORKS BONDS
SOLED FOR $3160 PREMIUM$20,000 Issue Purchase by Society Including Stifel, Nicolaus & Co.

By the Associated Press.

The final $2,000,000 of the $12,000,000 bond issue for the new city waterworks was sold today. The bonds, bearing 4½ per cent interest and maturing from May 1, 1924, until 1949, brought a premium of $3160, making the purchase price $2,062,000. The purchasers are a syndicate consisting of Stifel, Nicolaus &amp; Co., Inc. of St. Louis, Halsey, Stuart &amp; Co., Eldredge &amp; Co., R. W. Preisch &amp; Co. and B. J. Van Ingen &amp; Co., all of New York.

The only other bid was made by Waldfheim, Platt &amp; Co., of St. Louis and five New York concerns. It was $1,937,000. At the first opening of bids Monday, no bid was received for all the waterworks bonds, though $2,000,000 public improvements bonds and $2,000,000 for the municipal airport were sold at a good premium. Comptroller Nolte considered today's highest bid a good one. Waterworks bonds, being based on a single utility, are less sought by investors than bonds which are a lien on the city's general revenue.

Writer Quotes Late Marshal as Saying Clemenceau Wanted U. S. Chief Ousted for 'Stubbornness.'

DECLINED TO MAKE APPEAL TO WILSON

Ex-Secretary of War Baker Calls Charges "Very Foolish" — Washington Refuses Comment.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 19.—How former Premier Clemenceau sought to have Marshal Foch removed Gen. John J. Pershing from command of the American forces toward the end of the World War, was told yesterday in an interview, published by the Temps, which the late Marshal gave to the French writer Raymond Recouly.

The interview is one of many which Foch granted Recouly during the last 15 years of their close friendship and will form part of a book called "The Memorial of Foch" which is to be published in a few days.

Clemenceau, it is understood, will give his version of the affair after publication of the book. Pershing told an Associated Press correspondent yesterday that he had nothing to say on the subject at present.

Recouly quotes Foch as saying Clemenceau considered Pershing's efforts to build up an autonomous army, acting by itself within the allied ranks, was preventing the Americans from giving the aid they should have given to the allied cause as a whole.

Pershing Called Stubborn.

The "Tiger" accused Pershing of being too stubborn and headstrong and reproached Foch for being too patient and easy with the American commander, the interview states.

Clemenceau declared the time had come to go over Pershing's head and appeal directly to President Woodrow Wilson to intervene and, if that failed, to remove him.

It was on Oct. 21, after the battle of Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and Meuse, that it is said that Clemenceau, according to Recouly's story, after having already spoken to Foch on the subject sent the Marshal a letter insisting that, if his patient methods with Pershing failed to yield results, he should not hesitate for a moment to appeal to President Wilson.

Foch is said to have replied that to do this would have been to tilt, like Don Quixote, with a lance against windmills.

Foch's Reply.

"It was not at all certain that President Wilson would have acceded without difficulty to my demand and sacrificed Pershing," Foch told Recouly. "If after that incident, with which he would naturally have been acquainted, Gen. Pershing had been kept at his post he would without doubt have been more stubborn than ever."

"Even supposing he had been replaced, his successor would have needed time to get in touch with everything. We would have gained nothing by the change and it is quite probable that we would have lost something. That was my opinion."

Foch is said to have replied that to do this would have been to tilt, like Don Quixote, with a lance against windmills.

Foch's Reply.

"I was convinced," Recouly quotes Foch, "that my method of commanding, based upon persuasion much more than on severity, was a good one, the only good one and I remained resolved to carry out to the end."

Washington Officials Make No
Comment on Pershing Incident.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Word from Paris that interviews with the late Marshal Foch, soon to be published, would show that the allied Generalsissimo had refused during the war to request that Gen. Pershing be relieved of command of the American expeditionary forces, was received without comment by Washington officials.

Officers who were attached to Pershing's staff recalled his vigorous and successful championship of the policy of creating an independent American army under command of American officers and with its own staff system. This, they indicated, had run counter to the desires of some of the allied civil and military leaders. Pershing was under strong pressure from the time he reached France in 1917 to recommend that American troops be employed as replacements in British and French armies to make up for the war wastage in manpower in those forces.

These officers expressed complete confidence, however, that at no time had either President Wilson or his Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker, been in a frame of mind to have accepted a foreign

'AMERICAN TRAGEDY'
BY DREISER HELD
OBSCENE IN BOSTON

Jury Convicts New York Publisher of Selling an Indecent Book.

BOSTON, April 19.—A jury here yesterday declared Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" to be obscene. The jury found Donald S. Friede, New York publisher, who sold the book to a Boston police officer, guilty of selling an indecent work.

By Friede's conviction the publishers have lost their test case by which they sought first, the right to sell "An American Tragedy" in Boston, and second, a court determination which would afford some indication that Boston's stringent book censorship has softened.

Counsel for Friede sought to have the verdict set aside on the ground that the jury might have been prejudiced by the forum meeting at Ford Hall, Tuesday night. The meeting, he contended, held Boston's censorship up to scorn and ridicule, and was reported in Boston newspapers.

Assistant District Attorney Doyle ridiculed the attempt to get a new trial on this ground, because of Clarence S. Darrow, whose appointment as chairman of the commission was announced yesterday by Gov. Caulfield at Jefferson City. Stahl is 35 years old and unmarried, resides at the Missouri Athletic Association.

In an interview in his office in the Central National Bank Building today, Stahl said he would enter upon his work with the Public Service Commission with no preconceived ideas and with no unusual knowledge of public utility conditions in the State, but with a desire to study conditions as fully as possible and bring about improvement.

He attributed the most valuable work of the commission could be done through investigations on its own motion and that it should carry on that kind of work in so far as its funds would permit. It should do more than regulate rates, he said.

Not a Utilities Lawyer.

"My experience in utility matters has been casual," he said. "I never have represented a public utility company and never have participated in a public utility case."

Others who spoke included E. E. Wall, former Director of Public Utilities and Edgar S. Nethercutt, of Chicago, executive secretary of the Western Society of Engineers.

"I believe that public utility law is still in the making. The laws on valuation, rates of return and such matters largely are open questions as indicated by litigation now pending in the highest courts."

Stahl also is a Republican, succeeded Dudley F. Caffee (Rep.) of Jefferson City, for a six-year term of the five members of the commission, and succeeds Almon Ing (Rep.) of Poplar Bluff as chairman. Ing, a vacation appointee of former Gov. Baker, will remain as a member of the commission for the present and it is considered likely Gov. Caulfield will reappoint him.

Await Confirmation.

Stahl's appointment was sent to the Senate for confirmation by Gov. Caulfield today. He expects to take office as soon as he is confirmed and will move to Jefferson City. He will discontinue the private practice of law while he is member of the commission.

Stahl's appointment is not regarded as a political one. He has not been active in Republican politics and has not been identified with the Republican organization in St. Louis. Gov. Caulfield has

GENEVA, April 19.—The long-awaited expression of the British delegation to the preparatory commission on disarmament was made by Lord Cusden today. It was principally a plea to consider land and air armaments and leave naval armaments until some later time.

The speech was made in the course of discussion of the German proposal for publicity for armaments, and followed tacit rejection by the commission of the broad Soviet proposals for extensive partial disarmament. Littvintov, the Russian spokesman, was most vigorous in the treatment given his project but was told by the usually calm chairman, Jonkheer Loudon of Holland: "It is in writing."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, and never belong to any party. I always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The Grade Crossing Slaughter.

THE Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

On the grade crossing accidents on the Missouri Pacific Railroad in South St. Louis is a distinct disappointment. You argue that "the evidence again the latter claim (that the mechanical signals would increase public safety) is tragic." It is. You say that "it is time to stop this grade-crossing slaughter." You are right when you say that.

But when you say that "it is improbable that either the accident at Pennsylvania avenue or that at McCullum avenue last Sunday, in which three people were seriously injured, would have occurred had this crossing been manned by watchmen," you are jumping to a conclusion which is not warranted by the facts.

Your own news columns in reporting the accident which inspired "our" editorial carried the statement that another automobile driver, following close behind the one who was injured, saw the moving signal and heard the warning bell, and stopped. Do you suppose any more attention would have been paid by the first driver to a watchman, a man standing on the ground?

And did you know that during the month of March just past there was a total of 68 crossing gates on the Missouri Pacific Railroad alone which were demolished by motor vehicle drivers who were in too big a hurry? This is an average of more than two each day on this one railroad. There must be a watchman to operate the gates, but of what avail is he when the record shows that too many motorists pay no more attention to a lowered rate than to a yellow signal?

While the railroads have a large responsibility in the matter of safety (and the indications all are that they are measuring up splendidly to this responsibility) the motor driving public has also a responsibility. Your editorial would have been much more effective if it had not failed so completely to take into account the obligation of the public as well as that of the railroad. Why don't you advocate highway safety education?

HAYWARD STURTEVANT.

A Tribute to Dr. Bliss.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A RECENT editorial of an evening newspaper, "A Needed State Reorganization," is timely and appropriate and the praise of Mr. Monier commendable, but to a sorely tried and outraged public the most impressive and refreshing indication of Gov. Caulfield's wholesome interest and insight into the needs of the State hospitals is the conspicuous innovation of able medical representation on the board.

Dr. Bliss has been throughout a full and active career a thoroughly conscientious student; a highly inspired and strikingly forceful and impressive teacher; and a tireless and unselfish medical missionary in behalf of the mentally sick and afflicted.

Despite estimable qualifications of other appointees to the board, they cannot fail but to be strengthened, stimulated and better informed by his zealous and dependable counsel and assistance.

Henry George and Unemployment.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE unemployment problem: will Mr. Hoover solve it?

No. Because the nature of the problem is such that the evil cannot be remedied without removing its cause.

The cause of unemployment is private property in land. Mr. Hoover has no power to remove the cause, even if he were so disposed. In the language of the Senate committee's report, "It can be solved only through constant struggle on the part of all members of society."

The Post-Dispatch could, if it would, do more toward solving this problem than Mr. Hoover could possibly do, by giving as much space to the teachings of Henry George each day as it does to such editorials as appeared in Sunday's paper.

Being, as it is, a problem which depends for its solution on the "constant struggle of all members of society," society should be informed on the subject, and the Post-Dispatch can do a great deal toward solving the problem merely by letting the light shine.

CHARLES A. GREEN.

An Experience in Washington County.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THIS ballyhoo of "patriotic" residents of Washington County in regards to the tiff-mining story printed in the Post-Dispatch annoys me. I went on a hunting trip in Union Township last fall and want to say that the roads were the worst I ever saw. It was dry weather then, but I was bruised and aching for a week afterwards from being bounced around in the car. How any car could get over those roads in bad weather is beyond me. All the roads in the county are not bad, but the ones that are bad are that and nothing else.

I also saw enough of that tiff mining to make me sick. Something ought to be done about it. I didn't like the woman or the blind fellow but it seems to me your correspondent had the lowdown pretty well. If they don't like the spotlight, why don't the Washingtonians do something about things in some parts of their county? DRUMMER.

SPECIAL INTEREST NEWSPAPERS.

The purchase of two important Boston papers—the morning Herald and the evening Traveler—by the Publishers' Investment Corporation, a subsidiary of the International Paper & Power Co., is necessarily attracting national attention. Senator Norris of Nebraska has requested the Federal Trade Commission to investigate the transaction. The investigation should, in our opinion, be made.

The facts, of course, are now on record. The buyer is known, the seller is known, and the amount of the property—50 per cent of the stock of the publications—is known. That anything additional could be revealed by the proposed inquiry seems improbable. Nevertheless, the appearance of a utility interest as a proprietor in the newspaper publishing field should have all the publicity that can be piled on to it. The investigation suggested by Mr. Norris would provide publicity in abundance.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION.

Few expectations of Gov. Caulfield have been so well justified as that this former corporation counsel of the City of St. Louis, highly experienced as he is in the municipality's battle with public utilities, would strengthen the personnel of the Missouri Public Service Commission.

Fortunately, the Governor has it in his power completely to change the policies of this important public body. He will appoint three of the five members. He has already made one of these appointments, having nominated yesterday for chairman of the commission Mr. Milton R. Stahl of St. Louis. Mr. Stahl, a young lawyer and a student of the utility question, seems possessed of high qualifications for the position. He comes to it with an open mind, which ought, of course, to be the first qualification.

It is disheartening to learn that the Legislature has up to this time neglected to do anything to improve the powers of the commission. Perhaps Gov.

Caulfield, who seems disposed to make nonpolitical and therefore promising appointments to the personnel, will remedy the situation before the Legislature adjourns.

The appropriations for the commission are too restricted for its work. That is, the cost of any survey it may make is charged to the utility; but the commission, though these surveys cost the State nothing, may not collect from the utilities anything beyond the appropriation voted by the Legislature. That ought to be a simple matter to adjust, and it is surprising if the Legislature has any opposition to it.

Why should there be any opposition to it?

PROHIBITION AND LIBERALISM.

No other happening in the stirring field of prohibition within the last month has been so significant as the changed attitude of the liberal weeklies.

Both the Nation and the New Republic, though sympathetic with prohibition and its proposal that the United States lead the way as the first temperate country, at last admit that it is impracticable. Such shrewd observers have not failed to see in the Jones law a confession of failure. They are quite aware of those historical parallels which show precisely what happens when a law distasteful to half the population is made unduly severe. The corn laws of England, as well as the force bills and fugitive slave laws of our own country, all made similar attempts to ram down the throats of the people something distasteful to them. Those parallels furnish to the liberal and enlightened point of view of the New Republic and the Nation a sufficient index to what will follow if the United States persists in prohibition.

THE New Republic thinks the Jones law has cost prohibition, the support of a considerable element of the population that has been benevolently neutral, "just as making bootlegging a capital crime would alienate another considerable segment." The Nation, reluctantly yielding the position it has maintained for 10 years, fears that prohibition is in no better case with the people after reasonable trial than was the stamp tax of 150 years ago. It cries out in alarm against the way prohibition is scouted everywhere in the country day in and day out, and demands a nation-wide referendum on the subject.

The prohibitionists must view with dismay the defection of two such intelligent allies.

Between the Morgans, J. P. and Helen, the name is seldom off the front page.

AMARILLO—AND HOWE.

Amarillo was a "mote inglorious Milton," droning away its days contentedly in the brown drowsiness of the Texas Panhandle until oil came—and Howe.

Trim bungalows routed unkempt shacks, nondescript houses disappeared before the march of Tudor, and Main street flung out its mercantile chest in stately temples. Oil has transformed Amarillo as Aurelius beautified Rome and then came Howe—of the Atchison, Kansas. Howe—to prove himself the son of his journalistic sire.

DELMAR PROPERTY OWNERS OPPOSE NEGROES' MOVING IN

Meeting Called for Tonight to Discuss Means for Keeping Them Out of Apartments.

A mass meeting of the Delmar Boulevard Improvement Association, representing property owners on that thoroughfare between Grand boulevard and Taylor avenue, has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at the First Christian Church, 4300 Delmar boulevard, to discuss means of preventing Negroes from taking up residence on that street.

The meeting was occasioned by an announcement by a Negro real estate dealer offering the three-family apartment at 4174-1/2 Delmar for Negro occupancy on May 1. John H. Smithers, secretary-treasurer of the Improvement Association, said the former owner of this property had joined neighbors in 1922 in signing a 20-year covenant restricting it against sale or rental to Negroes. Smithers was of the opinion the covenant would prevent the threatened encroachment of Negroes, but said the association desired to make sure.

At a gathering of representatives of various Improvement bodies at the North Side Y. M. C. A. last night, it was decided to send Frank C. O'Malley, a lawyer, to tonight's meeting, prepared to advise the Delmar boulevard residents as to procedure.

FEARED ARREST FOR HAVING
"LOVE" TATTOOED ON ARM

Carnival Employee Walks into Police Station to Declare Innocence of Glen Echo Holdup.

"Glen Echo" Jones, the original tattooed man—in private life Joseph Simmons, 32 years old—walked into police headquarters yesterday and extended his right hand, on the back of which was tattooed the word "Love," one letter on each finger.

"I see by the papers," said he, "that a fellow with that on his hand helped stick up the Glen Echo Country Club last night. I'm opening up with a carnival company here this week and I don't want to be picked up by the first policeman who comes along. That's a stock design: I've put it on hundreds of men myself."

Simmons was taken to Clayton and later released after several victims of the Glen Echo holdup looked at him, and declared he was not the robber.

TO ARREST 143 FOR USURY

IN JULIAN PETROLEUM CRASH

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 19.—Armed with Joe Doe warrants, police began today to arrest 43 persons charged with usury in connection with the financial operations which preceded the Julian Petroleum Corporation collapse here two years ago.

Samuel Goodman, retired contractor, Arthur Katz, merchant, and E. M. Hacken, nothing manufacturer, were arrested last night. Two were arrested last week. City Prosecutor Lloyd Nix said that usury warrants would be issued for 100 more in addition to the 43.

The City Council yesterday granted an appropriation of $20,000 for the prosecution of the case. The oil company failed after it had been learned that stock with a face value of more than $100,000,000 had been irregularly issued and sold to investors.

ON NAVY PROBLEM

Reasons for Delay.

Lord Cushenden's address was regarded as primarily a bid not to discuss naval matters until after the British general elections May 20. He urged the commission to "get on with the land and air problems." He had no doubt, he said, that naval difficulties would be overcome, but "while they are obstructing progress, there is no reason why we should not seek an agreement in other branches of armaments."

Cushenden said he regretted the naval powers had not reached an agreement, but he emphasized that the leading naval powers which had signed the Washington naval treaties had already effected a large and important measure of limitation and reduction in their fleets. He then made his plea for consideration of land and air armaments.

He also told the Congress: "We may fall altogether and be a laughing stock in the world's eyes. No doubt this would be gratifying to the Soviet delegation, but it would be disastrous." He declared Great Britain was ready to make great sacrifices on land and in the air and ready to approve any schemes endorsed unanimously by other countries.

Concern Little, "Promises Much."

The procedure adopted to meet the Soviet proposal was formulated by the Commission's Steering Committee over night, giving little time to the committee's report said, adding that while the committee's report for consideration by any eventful international conference, the commission for the present would continue work on its draft treaty.

The report explained that the Soviet delegation, like any of the others, would have the right to bring forward any amendments to the commission's draft at any time during the discussion. This meant that the Russians might continue to fight for their views as various aspects of the disarmament problem were taken up.

Litvinoff made a last desperate effort to have the hitherto silent delegations, particularly the American and British representatives, disclose their views on his scheme, but he failed, quitting somewhat the fear of those who believed he was "bounding" rejection of his scheme to provide further basis for Soviet propaganda.

DELAY IN ACTION

Lord Cushenden's address was regarded as primarily a bid not to discuss naval matters until after the British general elections May 20. He urged the commission to "get on with the land and air problems." He had no doubt, he said, that naval difficulties would be overcome, but "while they are obstructing progress, there is no reason why we should not seek an agreement in other branches of armaments."

Cushenden said he regretted the naval powers had not reached an agreement, but he emphasized that the leading naval powers which had signed the Washington naval treaties had already effected a large and important measure of limitation and reduction in their fleets. He then made his plea for consideration of land and air armaments.

He also told the Congress: "We may fall altogether and be a laughing stock in the world's eyes. No doubt this would be gratifying to the Soviet delegation, but it would be disastrous." He declared Great Britain was ready to make great sacrifices on land and in the air and ready to approve any schemes endorsed unanimously by other countries.

It was the procedure adopted to meet the Soviet proposal was formulated by the Commission's Steering Committee over night, giving little time to the committee's report said, adding that while the committee's report for consideration by any eventful international conference, the commission for the present would continue work on its draft treaty.

The report explained that the Soviet delegation, like any of the others, would have the right to bring forward any amendments to the commission's draft at any time during the discussion. This meant that the Russians might continue to fight for their views as various aspects of the disarmament problem were taken up.

GRAND DRIVE TRAFFIC
IN PARK INTERRUPTED

Des Peres Sewer Contractor Permitted to Close Road
When Necessary.

For the past week, Grand drive in Forest Park, between the De Baliviere avenue entrance to the park and a point near the entrance at Skinker boulevard and Lindell drive, has been barricaded intermittently in daytime, in connection with work on the River des Peres sewer, and this condition will be continued until the contractor finishes about the end of the year. The drive may be closed to traffic altogether.

Some motorists have complained about the necessity of a detour, but Grand drive closely parallels Lindell drive. In the city's contract for the sewer work with the W. E. Callahan Construction Co. it is specified that Grand drive may be closed temporarily or permanently, west of the De Baliviere entrance, at any time the contractor requests, in order to expedite his work by keeping traffic out of the way and to protect the public from injury by work trucks.

The company is building the sewer at present east of De Baliviere. It has its concrete mixing plant in a lot at the northwest corner of Lindell drive and the river channel, and its trucks cross Lindell drive, and follow Grand drive to De Baliviere, thence, under terms of the contract, use the bridle path adjoining Lindell drive to reach the present scene of operations. Concreting is being done only in daytime. The company has closed Grand drive so far only at periods when its trucks were moving back and forth.

torists are not bothered to a great extent by the detour, but that traffic hindrances expedite the work at a saving to the city.

If the contractor had been required to provide a special road for his trucks the cost would have been reflected in the contract price.

Under an agreement arranged by the city with the owner of the lot where the concrete mixing plant is located, the company is paying $742.50 a year rental for the ground, which fronts 135 feet on Lindell drive. This is 5 per cent of the assessed valuation of $14,850. The owner is Roy Ellers, an attorney.

MISSOURI HOUSE SPEEDS WORK ON APPROPRIATIONS

Bills Carrying $7,423,983 for Higher Education and $1,858,950 for Prison Are Passed.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—The appropriation bills of the Fifty-fifth General Assembly are moving through the House at a fast clip, so as to give the Senate an opportunity to act on them soon. Senate leaders have indicated the upper House will not consider the bills until all are passed by the House.

Two of the major appropriation bills were passed and three engrossed by the House Wednesday. The State penal institution bill carrying a total of $1,858,950 and the appropriation for the higher institutions of learning totalling $7,423,983 were passed and now go to the Senate. The House engrossed the routine High way Appropriation bill, which is done each biennium as a perfunctory matter. The appropriation bill for the contingent expenses of the Fifty-fifth General Assembly totalling $650,000 also was engrossed. Of this $146,000 is appropriated for the mileage and per diem allowance of the officers and members of the Legislature. The House and Senate are each allowed $325,000 for contingent expenses.

The House also engrossed the General Deficiency bill, carrying a total of $4,488,493 for all deficiencies in funds for State offices.

Deficiency Bill Engrossed.

The House is speeding passage of the appropriation bills so as to give the Senate ample time to work on them. The Senate has indicated its intention of not considering them until all are passed by the House.

All of the appropriation bills in the House carry a total of approximately $26,000,000 which is nearly three millions more than the estimated revenue forecast by the Tax Commission.

Fourteen Senate bills were passed, and one killed, yesterday in the upper house.

Among the measures passed were, two sponsored by Senator Manuel Davis of Kansas City, "the Flying Senator," for regulation of aeronautics in Missouri. One would place aircraft in Missouri under Federal Department of Commerce regulations, and the other would make it mandatory for aircraft operating in Missouri to be licensed by the Federal Department, and the pilots of privately owned machines also to have Federal licenses.

Another bill passed, sponsored by Senator Haynes of Springfield, fixes the salary of the county collectors of Greene and Jasper counties at $5,000, and provides for several deputies at salaries ranging from $100 to $125 a month.

Fishing Proposal Approved.

Senator Haynes' proposal to eliminate the month of March from the closed season on game fish, and to extend trout fishing privileges to all the waters of the State during the open season, also was passed.

Two bills affecting the Boards of Trustees of the State Old Soldiers' Homes also were approved. One by Senator Whitecotton, authorizing former Confederates or descendants of Confederate veterans to be named to the Trustees of the Confederate Home at Higginsville, and another by Senator Ralph would put the same restrictions in regard to the Federal home at St. James, naming only Union veterans or their descendants.

A bill by Senator Willard permitting the City of St. Joseph to lower the number of election officials in special elections also was

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—The appropriation bills of the Fifty-fifth General Assembly are moving through the House at a fast clip, so as to give the Senate an opportunity to act on them soon. Senate leaders have indicated the upper House will not consider the bills until all are passed by the House.

Two of the major appropriation bills were passed and three engrossed by the House Wednesday. The State penal institution bill carrying a total of $1,858,950 and the appropriation for the higher institutions of learning totalling $7,423,983 were passed and now go to the Senate. The House engrossed the routine High way Appropriation bill, which is done each biennium as a perfunctory matter. The appropriation bill for the contingent expenses of the Fifty-fifth General Assembly totalling $650,000 also was engrossed. Of this $146,000 is appropriated for the mileage and per diem allowance of the officers and members of the Legislature. The House and Senate are each allowed $325,000 for contingent expenses.

GRADUATE OF SOLDAN HIGH KILLS SELF IN NEW JERSEY

Missouri to Prosecute Dry Cases
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 19.—Alfred Page of Springfield, Mo., today was appointed special assistant to the Attorney-General to aid in prohibition prosecutions. The deficiency appropriation bill passed by Congress provided for eight special assistants to aid in preparing Government cases against prohibition violators. Page is the fifth to be named.

Callouses
and Burning Soles

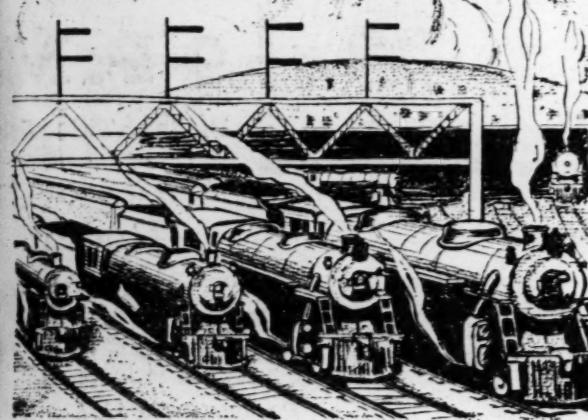

According to advices from New York, employees at the Hotel Park, in Jersey City, entered the guest's room after hearing a shot and found him lying dead. A revolver lay beside him. A personal letter to an employee of the company was found in a dresser. It gave no motive for the act. The employee, J. S. Walker, was 24 years old, was born in New York, and Mrs. J. Hanley Walker, who was 24 years old, was employed as a bond salesman by Mr. Caldwell & Co. in New York.

After his graduation from Soldan High School Mr. Walker attended the University of Missouri for a time and then spent one semester, from September, 1922, February, 1924, at Washington University.

Yore, who is assistant manager of the Chase Bag Co., said that funeral arrangements had not been completed.

The RAILROAD PLANT AND ITS DEVELOPMENT

AMERICA enjoys and is profiting beyond measure as a result of the best and cheapest transportation in the world—and, for the record, it might be stated, the best and cheapest in the history of the world.

Most persons realize that this is true and possible because of several factors including the better understanding between railroads and the public and between all those engaged in producing railroad transportation, but one of the most important factors, if not the most important, is the fact that it has been possible to obtain and use tremendous sums of new capital.

Some idea of what this means to an individual railroad or system can be obtained from a study of the record of the Missouri Pacific Lines. It is generally known that the railroads of the United States have been spending annually an average of more than 750 millions of dollars. What this means to a system like the Missouri Pacific can be understood from a brief study of the expenditures for any one year.

The expenditures are for new equipment, new rail and fastenings; additional yard tracks, sidings and industry tracks and for additional main running tracks; automatic block signals; greater use of electric lights; the building and strengthening of bridges, trestles and culverts; reconstruction and improvements to existing freight and passenger train equipment; new shop machinery and tools; elimination of grade crossings; and other similar items.

Expenditures for items of this kind in 1929 will total approximately $30,000,000 on the Missouri Pacific Lines. Some of the larger items are:

Additional main running tracks (the continuation of the double track program between St. Louis and Jefferson City)	$3,500,000
New rail, tie plates, fastenings, etc.	2,000,000
Grade and line revision (principally between Kansas City and Pueblo)	2,750,000
Automatic block signals	2,000,000
Reconstructing existing freight train cars and improvement to that equipment	2,000,000
Strengthening and renewing bridges, trestles, etc.	1,600,000
Additional yard tracks, sidings, industry tracks	1,250,000
Elimination of grade crossings, signals, etc.	400,000
Shop machinery and tools	300,000

And the foregoing does not include $11,000,000 for new equipment, $8,500,000 of which is for new freight train cars, $1,250,000 for new passenger train cars and $1,250,000 for new switch locomotives.

The public should know these facts in order to better understand the railroad question and I earnestly urge our friends to study them.

I solicit your co-operation and support.

The Senate, Gov. Caulfield, may substitute another name if he desires, when the Baker vacation appointments are sent to the Senate for confirmation. Ing was advanced to the chairmanship last September by Baker, when former Chairman T. J. Brown, resigned.

Painter, who formerly was assistant counsel of the commission, was appointed by Baker to serve over Brown's term, which ended last April 15. Painter has been holding over, pending action by Caulfield.

The other two members of the commission are John H. Porter, St. Louis, and S. M. Hutchinson, Kansas City, both Democrats, whose terms expire April 15, 1931.

Mayor Miller, who has been desirous of having such an expression of public opinion on future improvements, was the final speaker. He said that after the luncheon series was ended, he would make a statement as to the possibilities of meeting the civic needs. To a Post-Dispatch reporter, he indicated that the administration was contemplating a bond issue in line with the desires of the people. The Chamber of Commerce is conducting the discussions with the spokesmen of civic neighborhood and improvement associations what the great civic needs are.

In brief, the speakers and the projects they proposed were:
Dr. J. W. Bechtold, president of the North St. Louis Business Men's Association—Establishment of a municipal airport on land to be reclaimed from the Mississippi near Chain of Rocks, as suggested by the City Plan Commission.

J. H. Fecker, president of the O'Fallon Park Improvement Association—Construction of hard-surfaced roads in all the parks.

J. F. O. Reiter—Creation of a river-front drive between Chain of Rocks and North Market street, with probable extension into South St. Louis, a thing of beauty and a speedway.

Harry Parker of the Baden Business Men's Association—Construction and repair of fawers in the northern district.

Harry J. Meyer of the Chouteau-Lindell Improvement Association—Establishment of playgrounds entirely with bond issue funds, without taxing surrounding property.

E. J. Pancock—Planting of trees on all residential streets and on the whole river front, protection of floods as well as beauty justifying the latter.

Thomas Foley of the Northwest
St. Louis Improvement Association—Provision to put all public util-ties underground.

A. Werremeyer, a member of the Board of Education—Creation by the Board of a large revolving fund to finance public improvements, so that construction will not have to increase expenses by discounting special tax bills.

W. L. Protzmann—Removal of delays in carrying out condemnation of land for street widenings.

William Sessinghaus—Enlargement of sewer facilities.

George H. Marquardt—A new bridge over the Mississippi at Cass avenue, to facilitate highway traffic and the movement of freight from eastern railroads to St. Louis depots.

been acquainted with him for several years and has stated he was well impressed by Stahl. The Governor is known to have a determination to build up the personnel of the commission as the strongest men he can find, and he is said to incline to the idea of selecting young men in most instances. The salary of $5,000 a year is an obstacle to obtaining men of long experience in public utility matters.

Stahl is a native of St. Louis.
He was graduated from the University of Missouri, and was graduated with high scholarship honors from the law school of Washington University. He was admitted to the practice of law in 1917 and for five years was associated with the law firm of Nagel and Kirby. Later he was connected with the law firm of Koerner, Fahey & Young, now dissolved, and now is associated with the firm of Thompson, Mitchell, Thompson & Young. He served overseas as a Lieutenant in the Eighty-ninth Division during the World War. He never has held public office.

The term of Commissioner Caller expired last April 15, and he has been holding over pending appointment of a successor. Two other commissioners held by Ing and Perry Painter (Rep.) of Milan are subject to appointments by Caulfield, and he indicated to day that he would take action on them in a few days.

Ing was appointed by former Gov. Daingerfield in 1926, to serve out an unexpired term, and was reappointed by Baker in April 1927, for a six-year term. This was a vacation appointment, after adjournment of the Legislature, and is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

new 1929 Water Witch Electric Gyrator Washer

The new Water Witch is of such sturdy construction and mechanical perfection that we guarantee it against all defects in material and workmanship for 10 years. That is an extraordinary guarantee. The Water Witch has proved itself to be one of the greatest washing machines on the market today. In a recent test, the new Water Witch was run continuously for more than 143 days and nights. More than a lifetime's washing without a stop! 3,455 hours of continuous action! That means more than 30 years of average washings. At the end of this record-breaking test, not one part of the machine was sufficiently worn to necessitate repairs.

That's why we guarantee it for 10 years. What other washer carries such a liberal guarantee and represents such a truly remarkable value?

30 Days' Trial

We have so much confidence in the Water Witch that we believe in letting it sell itself to you. You may have the Water Witch in your home for a 30 days' trial. Do all your washing with it. If, for any reason, you are dissatisfied with the machine, you may return it. Your experience will not cost you a cent.

Nymph Washerette
Only at Sears, Roebuck and Co. can you buy the Nymph Washerette. This exclusive feature comes to you free of charge with the Water Witch. It makes it possible for you to do that small mid-week washing without doing a whole tubful. The Nymph is really a small washing machine in itself.

DEATH OF BOY IN AUTO CRASH
LAID TO LIQUOR BY JURY

Enforcement of Juvenile Laws Recommended After Inquest at at Chicago.

CHICAGO, 19.—Recommendations for drastic enforcement of juvenile laws, and revocation of licenses of resorts of ill repute that permit minors to frequent them were made in the verdict of the Coroner's jury investigating the death of George Lux, killed in an automobile accident here after a drinking party with a number of youths of grammar and high school age.

The jury, composed of educators recommended closing of the Sunnyside Inn, where the youth and his companions are alleged to have obtained liquor. The boy and the two girls who were with Lux in the car which overturned, causing Lux's death, were ordered released.

Parents who permit their children to attend parties where liquor is served and "otherwise conduct themselves in an unseemly manner" would be equally culpable, and subject to arrest and imprisonment, under recommendations of the jury.

"Moonshine, modern social morals, laxity of parents and indifferent roadhouse owners, are the essential causes leading up to this tragic accident," the verdict read.

CHANCE RULES PHYSICAL WORLD, NEW SCIENTIFIC THEORY HOLDS

Prof. Heisenberg Presents "Principle of Indeterminacy" to Meeting of American Physical Society.

By WATSON DAVIS,
Managing Editor, Science Service.
(Copyright, 1929.)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The boundaries of sciences defining into the very, very small have been compressed so greatly in the march of the latest theories of physics that scientists have arrived at the limit of their ability to measure accurately.

As complicated as the principle of relativity, as far-reaching, some physicists believe, is this new fundamental idea of the universe called the "principle of indeterminacy" or "uncertainty."

The man responsible for the introduction of this disturbing idea into the flow of scientific thought is present as an inconspicuous individual among the several hundred members of the American Physical Society. His name, if Prof. W. Heisenberg and like Einstein, he is a German. This blond, smooth-shaven, reddish-faced young physicist has an almost timid manner as though he were truly unaware of the stir that his theory is sure to make when once philosophers and laymen begin their attempts to interpret it.

Heisenberg's indeterminacy principle is destined to revolutionize the ideas of the universe held by scientists and laymen to an even greater extent than Einstein's relativity and the quantum theories. Crudely stated, the new theory holds that chance rules the physical world, and not man's mind to the physical domain. Always as man has delved deeper and deeper into the universe's structure, he has found finer and more detailed construction. Atoms showed their electrons, but now the bottom has dropped out. There is an end to knowledge not because of lack of endeavor but because of the nature of knowledge itself. Before the infinitesimal is reached meaning ceases. The scientist has a limit to his curiosity.

Old-fashioned physics conceived things as hard and solid and reliable. Measure where a baseball is and how fast it is going and it once was believed that its future position could be predicted. Roughly that is still true enough for practical purposes of everyday life. But take electrons, the smallest particles of matter, and Heisenberg's uncertainty makes prediction of what they are to do in the future, unreliable. In essence the future cannot be foretold by the scientist of the present. These weird-sounding consequences arise from the contention that a particle may have an exact place or an exact speed, but it cannot have both.

It is of such bewildering stuff that scientific discussions are made today in the new idea that uncertainty rules the universe, dreamers and mystics will see the abode of their fancies; the non-existent realms beyond the limits of meaning will soon be populated by ghosts, spirits and mental shadows. This is the price that scientists often pay for progress and it will not worry them, although it may amuse and even excite the lay world.

As reinforcement of Heisenberg's principle Dr. Arthur E. Ruark of the University of Pittsburgh told the physicists that there exists a limit of accuracy in the measurements of distance and he enunciated laws that resemble Heisenberg's ideas of indeterminacy. If relativity is now firmly entrenched behind many successful experiments, should ever be proved wrong, then Dr. Ruark explained, the existence of this limitation of accuracy would disapear.

A new effect upon light as it passes through space was announced to the meeting by Dr. Zicky of the California Institute of Technology who presented Mount Wilson observatory results supporting his idea that light particles as they rush along give some of their energy to matter they pass and become redder as a result. This would shorten the wave length of the light and produce what the physicists call a red shift of the spectral lines. Astronomers will use the new conception in their studies of the billions of stars of the universe.

Astronomer Records 2755 Star Clusters Like Milky Way.

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—A million milky ways, each of them similar to the galaxy or system of stars of which our own sun is an insignificant part—such is the picture presented to the meeting here yesterday of the American Philosophical Society by Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard Observatory.

As Dr. Shapley spoke in the same room which the society occupied in revolutionary times when Benjamin Franklin was president, there stood in the corner two small telescopes. These were the instruments used at that time by David Rittenhouse, friend of Franklin and first of the great American astronomers. With these instruments he watched the planet Venus traverse the bright disc of the sun, at a distance of some 20,000,000 miles.

150,000,000 Light Years Away. The galaxies which Dr. Shapley told the society about are at a maximum distance of about a 150,000,000 light years. This is the distance of which Rittenhouse could probably never have had the slightest conception, for a light year itself is equal to six trillion miles.

Furthermore, it is not just one single galaxy that Dr. Shapley has studied at this vast distance, but made with one of the telescopes at the Harvard Observatory.

But these photographs disclosed three other separate groups and it is the first results of the study of these that Dr. Shapley announced for the first time yesterday. This work has been performed with the aid of a young woman astronomer at Harvard, Miss Adelaide Ames.

Though the estimate of the distance of the nearer cloud is admittedly rough, it is possible to determine the relative distances of this and the more remote clouds with a considerable degree of accuracy. Taking the distance of

only a small part of the sky. The rectangular bowl of the familiar Big Dipper in the northern sky has an area, as the astronomer reckons it, of 49 square degrees. Dr. Shapley and Miss Ames have studied an area in Coma and Virgo of about 100 square degrees. In this area, they have found 2775 separate galaxies, belonging to one of the four separate clouds. If this condition is typical of the entire sky, it means that there are more than a million galaxies over the entire sky at the same distance.

Beyond this there are doubtless more, but they may thin out a little beyond our present limits. If they were uniformly distributed throughout space, their density should increase as the cube of the distance. Instead those within reach seem to increase in density a little less rapidly. But Dr. Shapley pointed out that the limited number of galaxies that he has studied makes unsafe the assumption of a general law.

a number of bootleggers, here yesterday. One of the buildings was the Ott building which Judge Reeves called attention to as being in the "very shadow of the Federal building." George Robbin, convicted of violation of the prohibition laws Wednesday, was sentenced to serve 18 months in the Cooper County Jail. E. Norwood, another offender received a similar sentence.

Lienesch, on his way to St. Louis, had stopped his car at a grade crossing to permit a train to pass when the men boarded his machine. They drove to a lonely spot near Eagle Park and told Lienesch to get out, firing as he complied with the command.

After several hours, Lienesch attracted the attention of persons in a nearby farmhouse who took him to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. An inquest will be held.

STUDENT FLYER SHOT BY NEGRO ROBBERS DIES

Milton Rogers, 17-year-old student and athlete, was taken from his classes at Roosevelt High School yesterday and locked up at the Magnolia Avenue Police Station, accused of stealing an automobile, license plates and various other articles.

Police were informed that Rogers, a member of the Roosevelt baseball team, drove up to the campus last month in a new cabriolet, proudly telling fellow students: "See what my dad bought me." He drove the car until yesterday when police, recognizing the cabriolet as a stolen car, seized it and Rogers, who lives at 1827 South Compton avenue.

The car was the property of Edward Huncker, St. Charles, and had been stolen March 25 from its parking place at Forsythe and Skinker boulevards. It bore license plates which had been stolen subsequently from the car of Frank Mahon in his garage at 7218 Nashville avenue.

Young Rogers admitted both thefts, police reported. In the car were Rogers' baseball uniform, which was turned over to Principal Hart of the high school; Huncker's raincoat; two red signal lamps, taken from a Public Service Co. tool box at Grand boulevard and Flora place and a Bell Telephone box at Grand and Magnolia avenue; Rogers' rifle and textbooks; a pair of gymnasium shorts stolen from another pupil's locker six months ago, and another baseball uniform.

The signal lamps, Rogers declared, had been taken by Ellis Trauernicht, 18, a former Roosevelt pupil, who also is under arrest. Rogers admitted, according to police, that he had taken about $7 from the lockers of fellow students in recent weeks. Two city detectives who arrested him had been sent to the school to investigate thefts from lockers of baseball players, which took place while the team was practicing.

"I parked the auto a block from my home every night and my parents didn't know I had it," Rogers said. "I used to take the boys riding, and had only one date with a girl. I guess I took the car because I wanted to feel big."

Rogers and Trauernicht were released this afternoon when all parties declined to prosecute.

PAIR STEAL TWO AUTOS AND $94 IN FOUR HOLDUPS

Robbers Abandon One Stolen Car for the Other as Police Make Unsuccessful Search for Them.

Two robbers took two automobiles and cash totaling $94 in four holdups last night, while police were making an unsuccessful search for them.

Perry Kauller, 2094 Virginia Avenue, was putting his car in a garage in the rear of his home at 8:30 p. m. when two armed men entered the machine and forced him to drive to Minnesota Avenue and Postalozzi street, where they robbed him of $2 and then drove away in the car, an Essex coach.

Several hours later Charles H. Winnfield, 235 Tower Grove Avenue, driving west in Florissant Avenue near Jennings road, was crowded to the limit by two men in Essex coach. They, using revolvers, robbed Winnfield of $2 and departed in his Chevrolet, leaving the Essex. Winnfield drove the Essex to the Page Boulevard Police Station, where it was identified as Kauller's machine.

At 12:45 a. m. two robbers driving a Chevrolet coach and answering the description of the pair in the other holdups, robbed Sidney Bartels, 3250 Maple Avenue, of $80 as he was putting his machine in a garage in the rear of his home.

Fifteen minutes later George Reynolds, 1424 North Vandeventer Avenue, and Miss Virginia Edney, 1449 Euclid place, were held up by two men as they sat in Reynolds' car in front of the Edney home. The robbers, who escaped in a Chevrolet coach, took $9 from Reynolds.

Winnfield's car was found abandoned at Jefferson and Lafayette Avenue early today.

Two robbers obtained $100 in a Kroger store at 3140 Oakhill Avenue at 6 p. m. after holding up Richard Ford, the manager, his wife, Lucille, and Frank Petty, the butcher. The robbers made Mrs. Ford stand behind a door while they searched her husband and Petty. They escaped in an old Ford car parked nearby.

Two armed men held up Daniel Wilkerson, proprietor of a drug store at 2601 Morgan street, at 11:20 p. m. and escaped with $75 taken from the cash drawer.

A truck-faced, robed obtained $25 from Clifton Smith, attendant at an oil filling station at Manchester and Cass Avenue at 9:45 p. m.

David Kornblum, 4960 Terry Avenue, reported that he was robbed of $2 by two men who held him up while he was seated in his car with a woman companion in front of 4820 Labadie Avenue at 1:20 a. m. today.

Adolph Hager, 3208 Dakota Street, route supervisor for Gillett's Laundry, 3190 Delmar Boulevard, was robbed of $50 at 6:45 p. m. yesterday when an armed man held him up in front of 6329 Enright Avenue, University City. Accompanying Hager was Walter Faeber, 4032 Folsom Avenue, a driver receiving instruction.

'PARALYZED' BEGAR FINED FOR ASSAULTING POLICEMAN

Roland Edwards, 38-year-old beggar, whose "paralyzed" arm was sufficiently strong last Tuesday to knock down a policeman who arrested him after passers-by complained he cursed them for not giving him money, was fined a total of $900 in City Judge Beck's court today, $200 each on charges of drunkenness, and resisting arrest.

"I wasn't begging, your honor," Edwards testified. "I just got out of the workhouse that morning. I spent the day at Christ Church Cathedral, talking to the pastor there, and I was leaving this officer came up and arrested me."

Edwards, a two-term ex-convict, has been arrested 68 times in the last two and one-half years.

PAYS WIFE'S FUNERAL EXPENSE, GETS 3 MONTHS FOR BIGAMY

MCALISTER, Ok., April 19.—Fred Smythe paid funeral expenses for his wife and, quite naturally, thought her to be dead. Because she wasn't he now has to go to prison for bigamy.

Smythe pleaded guilty yesterday and District Judge Melton sentenced him to three months in jail. Evidence showed Smythe married the second time after he had been presumed dead.

Judge Melton explained that, although he believed Smythe was justified in thinking his first wife dead, a prison term was necessary under the law because Smythe had not waited a period of seven years, when she would have been legally presumed dead.

was probably something of a factor. The $2,000,000 drop reported contrasted with expectations of the contraction would reach at least $3,000,000. The sharp drop in loans by local banks for the same time as indicating the those institutions still are adhering to the disposition of the funds.

Chrysler Motors held the group of interest in the automobile group, extending its recovery under the impetus of a brisk run of buy-backs for both accounts in response to favorable news which made its appearance during the day. The buy-backs were stimulated by figures on March shipments showing these had run far above the total reported for February. Early in the afternoon, demand increased in response to publication of its earnings for the first quarter. Consolidated net income of the company, including the Dodge Brothers, was shown at $8,833,173, against $6,654,017 in the same quarter last year. Short covering was rather urgent following the publication of the report which indicated net income for the period was equal to about $12 a share on the present stock.

Wall Street was not particularly moved over the latest suggestion of Charles E. Mitchell, head of the National City Bank, recommending the elimination of tax credits as a means of relieving the credit strain. The point he makes has been discussed often in recent years. In being realized the wealthier investors who bought stocks at much lower levels will not take their profits under present conditions when a substantial part of such income would go to the Government in taxes. This situation has kept the supply of stocks limited and has long been recognized as the backbone of the bull market. The Street realized the small chance of any move to eliminate such taxes, and at the moment appears to prefer silence so far as the credit situation is concerned.

Reports that Bethlehem Steel was contemplating plans for an investment of its capital structure much along the lines undertaken by the steel corporation to bring heavy buying into the stock. Selling ex the quarterly dividend of $1 a share, it quickly made up the amount deducted at the outset and subsequently sold at the equivalent of a new top price. It allowed the dividend to be taken off, but the stock has been consumed its broad expansion program undertaken, some five years ago, at a tremendous outlay and is benefiting from the improvements which have resulted.

A good part of the necessary funds were raised through the flotation of bonds, and it would be recognized by the company to extinguish a substantial part of its funded debt under prevailing conditions.

As usual Wall street accepted the absence of any announcement on the Chicago bank rate after to-day's midday meeting of reserve directors there as indicating no change had been made. In view of the further marked improvement in the bank's position, however, no action in that direction had been looked for. Hardly a month ago the Chicago bank's rate was among the lowest in the system. But at the moment it is the highest, standing at 8.15 per cent, against the recent low of 6.05 per cent.

THE WAY OF A WOMAN

By Marguerite M. Marshall

CONCERNING THE CHILDREN

DR. JOHN E. WATSON, psychologist, has just offered mothers one bit of sensible advice. Give your child a chance to solve his problems by and for himself, the doctor urges. Don't always let him "have a shoulder to weep upon." And here he has observed the lack of self-reliance which some members of the current younger generation manage to combine with a surplus of self-assurance, will agree with Dr. Watson that children often grow up too helpless, too dependent on mother or some other.

And, after all, how many sure-fire solutions of their problems can we hand down to the youngsters? For thoughtful women, there is an extremely interesting article in the current Harper's by Lillian Symes, herself, an intelligent mother, who has worked out that so many of the old rules no longer apply to the new game our children must play in the world. To take a single instance, we cannot, Mrs. Symes argues, imagine our children living in a community which tolerates murder and theft. Here, the parent may think, is an issue on which teaching can be clean cut.

"But how," Mrs. Symes pointedly inquires, "will the world of 20 years hence feel about the wholesale murder called war? Shall we teach our sons to abhor such a solution or international difficulties, and, if so, will we find ourselves in 25 or 30, part of a civilization majority that has outlawed war, or part of a despised minority of conscientious objectors in some Federal prison?"

WOMAN and her almost momentarily changing status in the world is responsible for another group of problems to which it is hard to give the modern son and daughter cut and dried solutions. As Lillian Symes pictures many young mothers "raised in a period in which it was considered unadulterate for a girl to show the calf of her leg, we graduated into a world in which girls came to costume parties in two bandana handkerchiefs, wore street dresses above their knees, and were afraid of being thought inhibited."

"We have found," Mrs. Symes sums up, "many of our present codes inadequate to the complicated situations we have had to face in a changing world, and so we have had to fall back upon whatever inner light we have been able to summon for our judgments. We suspect that whatever codes we may now impose upon our children may be inadequate to the new problems they will confront in a still changing world of 20 years hence."

WHAT, then, is the answer to the dilemma—a codeless upon bringing for children? Not at all. If youngsters learn no discipline at home, the world is going to discipline them more harshly than the sternest parents. But it seems to us that modern parents must give children not merely oral prohibitions, TALK, but a living example of whatever things they, the parents, consider lovely and of good report. Also, that in some degree we must keep, and must permit in our adolescents, an open mind.

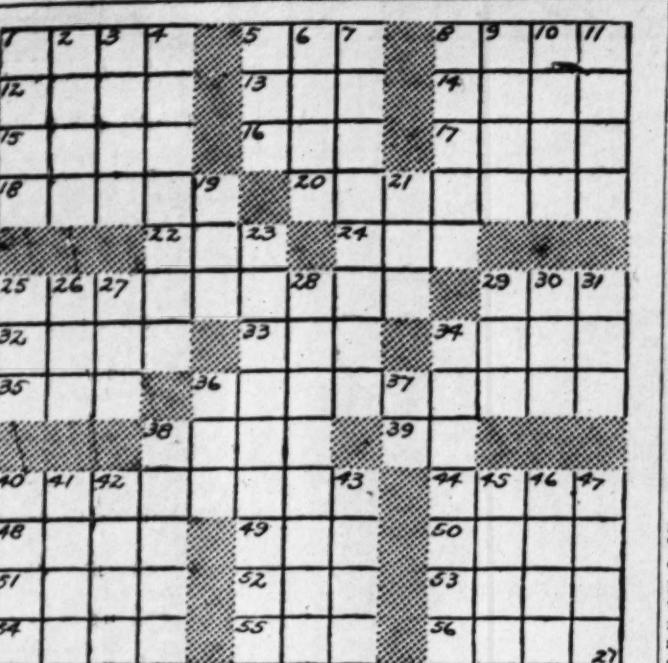

If father and mother live according to the principles of fair play, if they show by their acts that they don't think money the most important thing in the world, if they rejoice in their own romantic love, if they cultivate a passion for beauty and intellectual interests and outdoor life, their practice is likely to affect the younger members of the family more than any amount of preaching. Certainly, if the practice doesn't influence the children, the preaching will not. Our own experience and observation convinces us that when in their homes, boys and girls are exposed to truly cultivated and intelligent living and loving, the germs are likely to "take." And if they don't—why, they don't! Nothing more can be done about it.

TO worry too much over youthful psychology and its reactions may be useful, as well as useless. We know little—and much that isn't so—about the workings of a child's heart and mind. Any woman who has had contacts with children realizes this, unless she takes her Dr. Watson and other child psychologists too seriously. We were reminded again of the mysteriousness of the inner life of small folk when we read the other day that most original and interesting spring novel, "The Innocent Voyageur." It is the tale of a group of children written by a young Englishman, Richard Hughes, who knows enough about them to know that he or any other writer can know next to nothing.

The children in this book go through such experiences with earthquake, hurricane, pirates as, if we believe the psychologists, would inflict the deepest of soul wounds. Actually, all these exciting happenings are swiftly and successfully forgotten. As Mr. Hughes shrewdly observes:

"Most children, on a railway journey, prefer a change at as many stations as possible. . . . It is not long that it takes experience before one can realize what is a catastrophe and what is not. Children have little faculty of distinguishing between disaster and the

HELPING THE SCHOOL CHILD

By Emilie Hoffman

CHILDREN are natural hero worshipers and delight to read or hear stories about a hero. Hence as all matters pertaining to childhood are of interest to children. Children should know about heroes who are worthy of their tribe, so this month's reading and book talks should be focused on worthwhile men and women and, of course, the wise parent will not overlook the great opportunity this month's topic affords for character building.

In selecting the biographies, make these as varied as possible. The Life of George Washington and the Boy's Life of Abraham Lincoln should be in every boy's library. There are interesting books containing selections from biographies of famous men and women which will offer inspiration and the incentive to the reading of the entire biography of each man. Some that are "Selected Great Americans" giving a brief biography of 20 famous Americans. "Heroes of Progress" short biographies of modern heroes: "More Than Conquerors" a collection of interesting sketches of Scott, Irving, Beethoven, Agassiz, Livingstone, Pasteur, etc.; "Heroes of Liberty," an inspiring record of 22 heroes from 16 countries, and "Girlhood Stories of Famous Women," which contains 19 stories of outstanding women of history. The contents of "Great Short Biographies of the World," by Barrett H. Clark, are designated by the title.

"Boy's Life of Edison" will be of ordinary course of their lives. . . . Once more a phase of their lives was receding into the past and crystallizing into myth."

And we refer the parent who prides himself (or, more often, herself) on knowing a child's "evils" through Dr. M. H. Hughes' reminder: "A child can hide the most appalling secret without the least effort, and is practically secure against detection. Parents, finding that they see through their child in so many places the child does not know of, seldom realize that, if there is some point the child really gives his mind to hiding, their chances are nil. . . . They say what they think want them to say."

So—there's only one safe philosophy for parents: "Do your best—and leave the rest!"

In the home where several people go to business each day, it is wise to pin overalls together with a safety pin, upon removal. Then next morning each person can don his overalls without a frantic search through several pairs for the correct size.

The children in this book go through such experiences with earthquake, hurricane, pirates as, if we believe the psychologists, would inflict the deepest of soul wounds. Actually, all these exciting happenings are swiftly and successfully forgotten. As Mr. Hughes shrewdly observes:

"Most children, on a railway journey, prefer a change at as many stations as possible. . . . It is not long that it takes experience before one can realize what is a catastrophe and what is not. Children have little faculty of distinguishing between disaster and the

FOR all varieties of evergreens spring is a favorable season for transplanting. They can be moved with little setback up to the time when new shoots are starting, even later by experienced planters, though it is sometimes necessary to pinch off part of the new shoots which otherwise might wilt.

After being moved in the spring, an evergreen has a long period of favorable weather in which to become established. The hazards of the midsummer heat and drought may be as great as those of a winter season, but it is easier for the garden owner to overcome them. The most common cause of loss in evergreens is dryness; and newly planted specimens should be watched during dry periods. The roots of any newly planted tree or shrub penetrate a relatively small section of soil, which may easily become dry. Until the plant has had time to develop new and long roots, capable of foraging for Honker, however, would not let them. He was waiting. He knew full well that at a time like this nothing is lost and much may be gained by waiting. He wanted full daylight before he allowed any of his flock too near the shore. He had led them all the way up from their winter home in the Sunny South without the loss of a single member of the flock and he did not intend to lose one now by carelessness. So he would not let them go close to the shore, where the night before they had found the corn scattered in the water. He would not let them go until he himself had made sure that no danger was hidden close by. Wonderfully sharp are Honker's eyes and he wanted light enough to use them to the best advantage. So he kept the flock waiting and all about it grew lighter and lighter.

It was just as Honker was about to give the word for the flock to breakfast that far away in the Green Forest, in the direction of the Green Meadow, he heard the voice of Sammy Jay. As usual, Sammy was screaming "Thief, thief, thief!"

Fishermen near Koenigsberg, Germany, recently pulled up an ancient craft—a monoxylon, or boat hewn out of a tree trunk.

Now he wears a tub of soapy warm water and wash the bag of feathers in and out, changing to clean water and fresh suds as soon as the first tubful becomes soiled and flat. Rinse several times in clear warm water, squeeze out as much of the water as you can, then fasten the bag firmly to a line out of doors. When dry, the feathers will be just as clean and fluffy as when they were new.

While the feathers are drying, wash the casing that confines them. After the process is completed, you will have clean, sanitary and more comfortable pillows.

TENNIS ACCESSORIES Many and Colorful

By designing more interesting tennis togs than ever before, style makers seem to be declaring their opinion that simple muddy blouses and pleated skirts are all right for Helen Wills, but not for the average player.

There are distractions in the way of the headgear, bandana hanks, loud socks, gaudy scarves and more colorful cardigans than ever.

Basically, this year's "dernier cri" for the player is a white, sleeveless one-piece dress with a bright colored sweater or short jacket, and a warm, white or colored topcoat.

Added to that are plaid, checked, striped and zig-zagged scarves, handbags and head bands. One of the latest eye shades is joined to a three-color beret cut in sections like a baseball player's cap. Scarf and handbag are to be had in matching combinations.

Mascots are another chic development of tennis and other sport clothes this season. Embroidered versions of a horse, bird, beast or fish are worn on blazers and scarf.

The tortoise and the hare figure is embroidered on a jersey knick-er-skirt golf dress.

Wilted Parsley.

When parsley becomes too wilted for attractive use, place it in ice water for one hour. Shake thoroughly and place in a glass jar.

Cover with a thin cloth and place in the icebox. This will rejuvenate it.

Red clover too—whole fields of

By early summer the first crop of young bees has hatched, for it is only the queen who survives the winter and she takes refuge in her own old nest or even in some mouse's nest during the cold months. It is she alone, who cares for the first crop of young grubs and consequently it is she alone who visits the early spring flowers for food.

But by summer the young bumblebees are ready to shift for themselves, and being smaller than the queen, they visit the smaller flowers. Louse-wort, self-heal and butter-and-egg are the ordinary flowers for young worker bees. Laker sweet pea and garden sage offer them nectar.

The frost finds the workers gathering food from the wild asters, and when they die of exposure on the wing or in some flower-cup. Meanwhile the clever queen seeks her snug nest for the winter.

Tie-Backs and Shade Pulls.

Amusing little flower basket designs of metal, hand-painted in soft pastel shades such as green, rose, blue or white, are attractive to use as tie-backs on the curtains and for lamp and window shade pulls, the latter two having silk cords attached.

Flowers Under Hats.

Contrary to the customary position of a flower on the brim or crown of a hat is the new method of placing one or two posies under the curving brim adjacent to the ear.

Gardenias in white or colors appear in this manner against brims of models in straw.

Woman Gets Change In Registration Law

Mrs. FREDERIC A. OGG, wife of the head of the department of political science in the University of Wisconsin, largely is responsible for having secured permanent registration for Wisconsin voters.

Mrs. Ogg is president of the Madison League of Women Voters. She began to investigate registration methods in Wisconsin and found them obsolete and costly. With the assistance of Joseph P. Harris of the university a permanent registration bill was drawn up.

Through all the crowded hearings and valiant work of local leagues Mrs. Ogg was in the thick of it. The Governor's veto did not dismay her and she kept on working until the bill finally was passed.

She then turned her attention to changing the date of the fall primaries. The bill which she helped draw up, now pending in the Wisconsin Legislature with every prospect of passage, advances the primary date from the Tuesday after the first Monday in September to the third Tuesday in September.

The Jersey Blouse.

For various sporting events the Jersey blouse to accompany the tweed suit is smarter than that of silk or the sweater. An attractive mode in English red, green, French blue, beige or gray has a round neck and side lacings at throat and hip.

WALL STREET PROGRESS IN STOCK TRADE
ON 'CHANGE

Profit-Taking Easily Absorbed Until Last Hour
When Some Irregularity Appears.

PLEASING EARNING REPORTS ARE HELP

American Telephone and Telegraph and Bethlehem Steel Reach New Highs in Day's Trading.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 20.—The stock market made the best progress of any Saturday session in weeks today, with profit-taking easily absorbed until the last hour, when some irregularity appeared. Trading, however, was still carried on at a moderate pace, with total sales for the two-hour session totaling 1,292,210 shares.

The slight improvement in the credit situation, with a 7½ per cent on money rate carrying over the week-end, was reflected in reports from abroad over the probable outcome of the reparations conference, and another assortment of highly pleasing earnings reports for the first quarter, prompted bullish activity.

Favorable Earnings.

The new record automobile output as announced by the Department of Commerce, caused some misgivings as to how long this industry can maintain its terrific rate of activity. Hudson, however, in reporting the best earnings in its history for the first quarter, stated that the number of cars in the hands of dealers and customers below normal, and Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors, predicted another year like last for his company.

The day's news included favorable first quarter earnings statements from smaller steel companies, Colorado Fuel & Iron and Acme, which further stimulated hopes of the showings to be announced by United States Steel and Bethlehem next week.

Chain Store issues were in demand. Woolworth, Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward making good gains.

New Highs Recorded.

American Telephone and Bethlehem Steel were again seen up 4½ and 1½ points respectively to new highs. Spanish Washington jumped 2½ points to a record level and International Telephone, United Air Craft, Columbian Carbon and Warner Brothers mounted 4 to 7 points, closing 2 to 6 points net higher. Some of the oils were well bought, Texas Co. rising 2½ points to a new high, and Pure Oil, Houston and Phillips selling higher. At the close Houston Oil was off a ½ point net.

The motors were unsettled by the production figures. Graham-Paige losing three points and Hupp, Mack Truck and General Motors sagging. Midland Steel Products preferred dropped 17 points. International Harvester closed lower.

Closing stock market news with other tables and market news will be found on pages 6, 7 and 8.

LEVIATHAN IS LIQUORED AT

Liner Sails for New York from Southampton with Drink for Passengers.

By the Associated Press.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 20.—The liner Leviathan left for New York this morning with a stock of liquor aboard for sale to passengers.

It was understood there was to be no bar aboard the Leviathan, but that wines and other liquors once bought might be served when and where passengers chose.

It had been intended to load the supply of liquor on the Leviathan yesterday morning but because of the presence of photographers the orders were canceled. At midnight, when the quay was deserted, four rope slings containing cases of liquor were hoisted into the ship. One of the stevedores said the supply appeared to consist mostly of bottled beer.

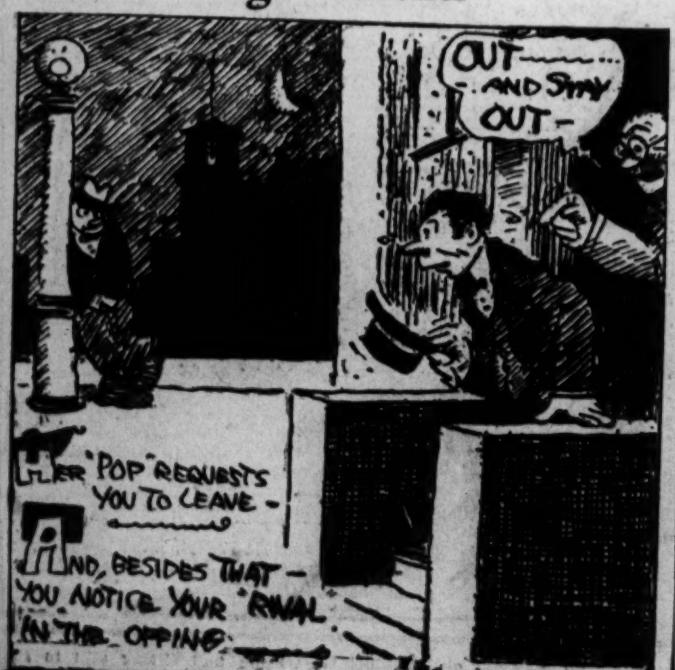

CHESTER, April 20.—Seven cases of various fluids for which France is famous were put aboard the Leviathan when it called here today on its first trip to New York under its new house flag. Among the refreshments were cognac and two champagnes, "sec" and "brut," as well as the celebrated wine sister, "rouge" and "blanc."
